In Debt? You're Normal

'I've Two Jobs Just to Survive'

Moonlighter Tells Why He Does It

(This is the second in a series of articles on you and your debts.)

By PETER BRUTON

Debt has forced him to take two jobs.

"Sure, I'm what's called a moonlighter," explained this man with the greying hair and the weary-looking eyes. "It's the only way I can survive."

Eight hours a day, five days a week he works at a trade—a job he describes as "fairly steady but with lousy pay." Then, at 5 p.m. he rushes home, grabs something to eat, and takes off to a beer parlor where he slings suds for another four hours a night and a full day on Saturdays.

Could Be Worse

"At least I have some time with my family on Sundays," he said. "I guess it could be worse."

Without the extra job—one he doesn't know how long will last—he would be in the impossible situation of having to pay out $23 a month more than he brings home.

Here is a classic example of what Dickens' Mr. Micawber was describing when he said: "Annual income twenty pounds, annual expenditure nineteen nineteen six, result happiness. Annual income twenty pounds, annual expenditure twenty pounds ought and six, result misery."

"You probably think it's impossible for any sane man to get into a situation where he has to pay out more than he earns," said the man. "Well, it's a lot easier to do than you think."

Married with two children, he makes $63 a week clear after deductions, or $271 a month.

$271 In, $294 Out

Out of this comes food which takes up some $87 a month, rent is $85 a month, an oil stove burns up $15 a month, wood and coal for the furnace consumes another $12 a month, electricity and phone another $11. On top of this are car payments of $54 a month, TV is costing $15 a month and a deep freeze, $15 a month.

Result: $271 coming in, $294 going out.

"Of course we've got plenty of other expenses," he said. "They all add up. Little things like cigarets, big things like clothes and other necessities. By moonlighting I can make up the difference and we scrape by. It's an awful existence."

How did he get into such financial troubles?

"What does it matter, all I want to do is to get out of them," said the man.

Has to Have It

Why doesn't he sell the car?

"I have to have that."

Why not get an older model?

"Then it would be breaking down all the time."

He said the deep freeze "saves us money" and that his wife was home by herself every night so the television was a necessity too. In fact everything they had was a "necessity."

What would happen if he couldn't keep two jobs?

"We'd be in trouble, wouldn't we," he said. "The way the union people are screaming about moonlighting, it might happen at that. I don't know how long this beer parlor job is going to continue."

Labor leaders say moonlighters are taking the labor movement back 50 years, that no man should hold two jobs while there are people unemployed.

No Mercy

"I have no mercy for moonlighters," said Victor Midgley, carpenters' union international representative, recently. Some local unions have stated that any of their members discovered moonlighting will be kicked out of the union.

"Look," said the man when asked about his views on this. "I don't want to see anyone out of a job either. But first things come first. I have to look after my own."

Panhandler Real Proud

WINNIPEG (BUP) — James Gastone, who said he was a Roman Catholic pleaded guilty yesterday to collecting $75 from United Church ministers by telling hard luck stories under assumed names.

When asked by police why he didn't seek help from his own church, Gastone explained, "I have some pride."

New Set of Charges in Sommers Affair

Conspiracy Case Extends To B.C. Forest Products

Everything in the legislative chamber is in readiness for the colorful opening of the legislature. Invited guests will be seated in chairs on the floor of the House while the public galleries will be thrown open to the public on a first-come, first-served basis. Officials Appear Today

VANCOUVER (CP) — B.C. Forest Products Ltd. was brought into the Sommers conspiracy case late Thursday in a new set of charges issued by city prosecutor Stewart McMorran.

Representatives of the company will appear in city police court today when trial resumes for the three companies and four individuals charged previously.

TRANSFER OF FUNDS

The case involves alleged transfer of funds to Robert Sommers, Social Credit member of the British Columbia legislature for Rossland-Trail, while he was minister of lands and forests. He is accused of accepting the funds in consideration for forest management licences.

A six-count summons which accuses B.C. Forest Products Ltd., with conspiracy and other charges was served late Thursday on Walter S. Owen, the company's solicitor. It was delivered to his home.

HEART ATTACK

In two of the six counts, the late Hector Munro is accused as a conspirator with lumber companies and individuals previously charged. Mr. Munro, president of the firm, died in December after a heart attack.

Mr. McMorran said new charges have been issued against persons and companies previously charged. He said there had also been some rewording of charges previously filed.

PERIOD EXTENDED

Previously charged were: Sommers; C. D. Schultz; H. Wilson Gray; John M. Gray; C. D. Schultz Ltd., Pacific Coast Services Ltd., and Evergreen Lumber Sales Ltd.

It was understood the period covered in the charges has been extended. Originally it was from January, 1953, to Sept. 30, 1955. Now the dates read January, 1953, to Nov. 20, 1957.

Wage Demand 'Ridiculous'

Highest Paid

Biggest job in B.C. lumber industry fell to John V. Clyne yesterday when he was appointed board chairman of MacMillan & Bloedel. Mr. Clyne resigned as B.C. Supreme Court justice to take this position, believed to be highest paid in the industry.

I'm Opposing Says Mayor

One union of city employees has made "absolutely unrealistic (wage) demands, ridiculous demands," Mayor Percy Scurrah said yesterday in an address to the Rotary Club.

The mayor did not, and would not later, say which union he meant nor how much it was asking. City policemen, firemen and outside staff have asked for reopening of their contracts.

The mayor said city council was having "requests for another round in the increase of wages. I personally am opposing any increases as in my opinion economic conditions and a slight evidence of the reduction in the cost of living does not justify the increases."

Victoria, he said, was in "the unfortunate position where the great percentage of our tax revenue comes from the home and with the large number of our population who are living on fixed incomes it becomes imperative that we hold the line."

'Let Law Halt Moonlighting'

An amendment to the Hours of Work Act to make "moonlighting" illegal, was urged by the 12,000-member B.C. Provincial Council of Carpenters yesterday.

The council, in a brief presented to Labor Minister Lyle Wicks, asked that it be made a breach of the act for an employee who has worked eight hours in any one day or 40 hours in any one week, to work for another employer.

The brief stated that the intention of the act to limit hours was violated by employees holding more than one job.

The council also called for more rigid control of overtime under the same act.

"One thing drawn to our attention in the past year has been the utter disregard by some employers for the laws of the province regarding hours of work," the brief stated.

"In several instances these employers carried on considerable overtime work and to the best of our knowledge did not even approach the department of labor for an overtime permit."

Steals $4,925, Repents

Religious Friends Help 'Robin Hood'

COURTENAY (CP)—A 25-year-old father of five was given an 18-month suspended sentence Thursday on a charge of stealing almost $5,000 from a shoe store he had managed here after religious friends pleaded for him.

Peter Anderssen admitted stealing $4,925 between Nov. 1, 1956, and Nov. 7, 1957, by withholding sales slips. He reported the shortage to the Vancouver office of Easy-Fit Shoe Company before it was discovered in an annual inventory check.

Magnus Oppel and Alfred Lintott, friends of Anderssen in a Gospel group here, pleaded for leniency. "It was more a case of Robin Hood than of wine, women and song," Oppel said.

Anderssen said he had "been living too high" and admitted he was well paid, but added: "I'm repentant and I know I did the firm very wrong."

The company agreed to the suspended sentence and Magistrate John Ryland ordered Anderssen to make complete restitution for his "serious and deliberate offence."

Weary, Wet Little Lads Finally Found by Dad

Three small boys held the attention of city police at noon yesterday.

Ricky Thynne, 3½, was found at Hillside and Quadra at 11.10 a.m., and could not identify himself. Police took him in hand, and he spent a happy hour with them until his grandmother, Mrs. G. Thynne, 2615 Blanshard, claimed him.

The other boys were more venturesome: Mrs. D. G. Thompson, 401 Thetis Crescent in Belmont Park, reported sons Billy, 5, and Robert, 3, had wandered from the Hudson's Bay Company store at about 11.40 a.m.

Through the noon hour police kept a lookout for them. At 1.20 p.m. came a message that they'd been found by their father near the Tillicum bridge on the Island Highway.

Apparently they'd walked all the way, for both were soaked by yesterday's rain.

Daddy found his weary little lads quite by chance. He didn't know they were missing. However, he'd probably have found them, anyway, on the off chance they didn't get home.

He's the corporal in charge of the Colwood RCMP detachment.

Bulganin Makes New Plea

West May Test Red's Sincerity

PARIS (UP)—The Western Allies were reported nearing agreement yesterday to hold a summit conference with Russia but only after preliminary lower-level talks that would test whether Moscow had a genuine desire for co-operation.

Diplomatic sources said the NATO allies would inform Russia accordingly in notes that might be dispatched later this month.

These notes, the sources said, would accept with heavy qualifications and conditions Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin's offer to hold East-West summit talks to ease international tension.

Yesterday Bulganin again called for an East-West summit conference in letters to 19 Western nations.

The letters proposed a meeting not merely of the Big Four powers but of all NATO and rival Warsaw Pact chiefs.

The Soviet premier repeated the Soviet view that a top-level conference would bring about a relaxation of world tension.

Sources in London said the notes—latest in a burst of messages from the Kremlin—generally appealed for some of the same East-West contacts Prime Minister Macmillan himself proposed in a controversial address last Saturday.

Sources said the documents made four proposals: An East-West summit conference, an East-West non-aggression pact, stronger East-West contacts and an agreement on disarmament.

PEOPLE we could do without . . .

1. Radio announcers who read poetry on the air without once mentioning the poet's name. No doubt the listeners are supposed to run away with the idea that the verses are a little thing the announcer dashed off between commercials.

So far I have not heard of any announcer failing to give credit to the sponsor. The only way that Longfellow, Shakespeare, James Whitcomb Riley and the rest of the public-domain crowd can get a plug on the air is to buy some time.

* * *

You only get what you pay for in this world. Let these neglected bards put themselves right with the front office, and the radio audience will soon be hearing about them. I wish they would get with it. I want to hear a radio announcer urging me to hurry on down to my neighborhood book store and buy some Edgar A. Guest, the poetaster with the new miracle ingredient.

* * *

2. Pedestrians who behave as though they were immortal. You see them stride confidently from the curb as though their bodies were by Fisher and they were carrying heavy collision insurance, with nothing deductible.

They take off when the light is just turning red and cruise across in a leisurely way, pausing only to turn a fierce glare on the motorists who have the nerve to pass near them.

Trying to drive across a pedestrian lane infested with never-say-die pedestrians is a trial for the nerves. You might expect a few of the pedestrians to hang back and give the motorist a break. But this is a forlorn hope. They keep straggling across.

Sooner or later an exasperated driver is going to leap from his car, grab one of the relentless flock of walkers and say: "Here — you take the car. If you can get it over the pedestrian lane without knocking somebody down, you can keep it."

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER
. . . solemn, grim

Use Science for Peace Ike Challenges Russia

(From UP and AP)

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower proclaimed a [illegible] strength" Thursday and challenged Russia to join other nations in a dramatic new "science for peace" program.

This was the essence of Eisenhower's answer, in his annual "state of the union message" to Congress, to what he acknowledged as growing space-age dangers from a Russia "waging total cold war."

Eisenhower summoned the country and Congress to rally behind it with sacrifices and understanding. Many Democratic leaders promptly lined up with Republicans in expressions of support and praise.

MORE MISSILES

Eisenhower called for a stepped-up missiles program, a shakeup in the defence department to halt harmful rivalries, greater economic aid to countries facing a "massive economic offensive" from the Soviet Union.

And, bypassing Soviet leaders completely, he appealed directly to the Russian people to help the world "turn the corner" toward lasting peace.

The President said that in the last analysis there was "only one solution to the grim problems that lie ahead."

"The world," he said, "must stop the present plunge toward more and more destructive weapons of war, and turn the corner that will start our steps firmly on the path toward lasting peace."

The President explained that his call for "works of peace" rather than "words of peace" was addressed not only to the Congress and the people of the United States but "to all peoples, especially those of the Soviet Union."

The fundamentals of American foreign policy appeared to be little changed by the President's message. He renewed the administration's desire for a "real first step toward disarmament."

CO-OPERATION URGED

And he strongly endorsed foreign aid, greater scientific co-operation among the Allies, extension and broadening of the trade agreements act, and increased efforts to build U.S. military strength.

Eisenhower was utterly solemn—almost grim—as he set out to analyze the U.S. position in an uneasy world and lay down a program for strengthening it.

Pushing aside domestic questions, to be considered in his budget message Monday, Eisenhower gave over Thursday's report to two great tasks he said outweigh all others:

"The first is to ensure our safety through strength . . . our second task is to do the constructive work of building a genuine peace."

The President's appeal won immediate support from some lawmakers. Sen. Clifford P. Case (R, N.J.) called it a "concrete demonstration" of the U.S. desire "to improve the lot of all mankind."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D, Minn.), also praised the idea. But he said he was "deeply concerned" whether it actually would be carried out. He said some of the president's idealistic proposals get a "negative response" from his aides.

Cold War Fanning Space-Age Danger

'We Were Caught Napping'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower confessed to Congress that his administration had failed to appreciate the advantages to be won by launching the first earth satellite.

"Let us not make the same kind of mistake in another field, by failing to anticipate the much more serious impact of the Soviet economic offensive."

Fraud Denied in Arson Trial

'I Wanted to Destroy It'

'Little Oakalla' Home Source of Dissension

Emerson Eugene Michael, 4384 Robinwood, didn't intend to defraud anyone when, last Sept. 1, he set fire to his house. He merely wished to destroy something that was a source of dissension between his wife and himself.

This was the essence of the case for the defence, said lawyer George Gregory when Michael's trial for arson continued yesterday in Saanich police court.

On the stand, Michael told of a night of drinking, with more of the same in the morning, punctuated by arguments with his wife and others.

The house, he said, he had bought when only a frame, and he had worked hard to finish it himself. It was remote from bus lines, he said, and his wife had never seemed to like it.

"She called it 'Little Oakalla,'" he said.

Whenever she gave it this name, accused said, it hurt his feelings because of the work he'd put into it.

Ordered From Car

On the afternoon of Sept. 1, he said, he was driving into town with his wife and a friend when he suddenly ordered them from the car and returned home. He wanted to destroy it —to get rid of it, because it was causing trouble all the time.

He carted "cans of stuff" into the house, and said he may have dropped a cigaret or match that started the fire.

Then he went to the garage and saw firemen and policemen arrive. The fire was put out before doing extensive damage.

Since then, and since he had been out on bail, Michael said he had fixed the place up, and it was better now than before.

Only other defence witness was Charles E. Michael, 1702 Belmont, father of the accused. He said his son had come to his room on Sept. 1, "as drunk as I've ever seen him, or anyone," but added that since that date the accused had been a different man. He was now all spruced up, and "not drinking to my knowledge."

Replying to defence argument, prosecutor Kennett Murphy contended that it was not necessary to show intent to defraud, nor was such intent charged. It was just necessary to prove, and had been proved, that accused set fire to the house, of which he was only part owner.

Magistrate Hall remanded the case to Jan. 16 for judgment.

Forged Cheque Passer

Donald Hunt, no fixed address, who had pleaded guilty earlier to passing a forged cheque in the amount of $142.86, appeared in Saanich court for sentence.

The magistrate gave him nine months definite, and six indeterminate, in the Young Offenders' Unit of Oakalla, to run concurrently with a similar sentence handed down in Esquimalt court.

In city police court yesterday Neils John Peterson, 722 Market, pleaded guilty to passing a forged cheque for $40 at Spencer's store, obtaining tools and cash. He was remanded to Jan. 14.

* * *

Also in city court John Chuhaywich, 2510 Garden, was sentenced to three months in jail on a charge of common assault. Complainant was his wife, and the incident occurred at their home early on the morning of New Year's Day.

Garbage Costs Too High?

Oak Bay has been invited to see for itself if the city is charging too much for disposing of Oak Bay garbage.

Coun. Fred Robinson and Municipal Engineer A. S. G. Musgrave attended a city public works committee meeting yesterday, and Coun. Robinson complained that the city shouldn't have increased Oak Bay's garbage charges in mid-year, after the municipal budget had been set. He also said Oak Bay was not altogether satisfied that the increased charge was what it should be.

City Engineer James Garnett said that "from our point of view there was not an increase in the rate." Oak Bay had been delivering its garbage to the city in compacted form; he said, and when a truck was dumped, 12 compacted yards of garbage expanded back to 18 yards.

No Growth At City Hall

Victoria's present city hall isn't likely to grow.

City Engineer James Garnett told public works committee yesterday that as instructed he had looked into the possibility of remodelling the hall to provide more space.

The frame structure, he said, was "not susceptible" to enlargement, and was "non-conforming in almost every respect, and if we revamped it we would be breaking our own bylaws."

Union Backs Hoffa With $2,000,000

CHICAGO—Teamster Union leaders yesterday disclosed plans to assess every union official $1.040 to build a $2,000,000 legal defence fund for James R. Hoffa and his allies.

Harold J. Gibbons, vice-president of the trucking union and a top adviser of Hoffa, outlined the plan at a meeting of teamster leaders from 13 midwest states.

Even as Gibbons acknowledged the plan was afoot, promissory notes were passed among the attending teamster bigwigs. The notes authorized union payroll deductions of $10 a week and provided for an 8 per cent penalty for overdue payments.

OLATION, Ky. — Twin brothers with twin thoughts ended up in the same predicament. Herschel Sinclair jumped in his car about the same time as his brother Harold did. Each was going to see the other about a hunting trip. They met when their cars collided about a mile south of here.

Clothing Pledged

Indians' Appeal Answered

An appeal for clothing from the Ahousat Indians on the west coast of Vancouver Island brought immediate answers from the B.C. Indian Arts and Welfare Society last night.

The appeal from the band's chief councillor, Paul Sam, was read at the society's annual meeting held at the public library last night.

Mrs. Marie MacLean, a member of the society and also of the Society of Friends (Quakers), said the Friends had clothing that could be sent to the Indians immediately. Other members suggested the Lake Hill Women's Institute could also collect some clothing.

The Indian wrote that his band had only six days last fall to "make their winter stakes" in fishing with purse seiners.

The fishing has been bad for three years, he wrote, "so these three years we make no money." He asked the welfare society to send warm clothing and shoes.

'We Welcome Pact Plan'–Nehru

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—Prime Minister Nehru told visiting Prime Minister Macmillan Thursday night he welcomes the British leader's suggestion for an East-West non-aggression pact.

Speaking at a banquet in Macmillan's honor, Nehru said Macmillan's support for the pact received a warm reception "certainly in India, certainly I think in every country of Asia, and I think elsewhere too in Europe and America."

Macmillan suggested the idea of a new non-aggression pact in a radio address last Saturday before leaving on the start of a six-week Commonwealth tour. The foreign office said such a pact could not stand alone but must be part of a wider agreement.

Nehru added that "this warm reception came because people all over the world hanker after some lessening of tension and are hankering to be rid of this ever-present fear of danger, the possibility of wars or terrible disaster."

Macmillan said that "our people share a universal desire removing from the world fear of international conflict, for peace and tolerance between nations, and respect for the independence of small states as well as large.

"They are both determined to direct their energies toward villagers of Shamaspur, north-west of here, gave Macmillan a rousing greeting. Their flowery welcome was on a level with the gay Indian receptions given just over two years ago to Earlier Thursday, the Punjab Soviet leaders Nikita Khrushchev and Nikolai Bulganin.

The people of Shamaspur hung garlands of flowers around the shoulders of the British leader. They showered him with rose petals and strewed his route through the dusty streets with flowers.

Sidney-Mainland Ferry

MAYOR SCURRAH is to be commended for the determination with which he has stuck to re-examination of the possibilities of a Sidney-Mainland ferry; one which will take cognizance of the growing needs of the Greater Victoria community and the necessity for improved ferry connection to handle a much heavier volume of car and passenger traffic. For a community of 120,000 people, Greater Victoria does not yet have anything like a convenient fit in its total transportation arrangements.

Both the direct steamer route to Vancouver and the roundabout highway-and-ferry journey via Nanaimo leave out of account the urgent need for short, fast and frequent car-ferry connection between this centre of population and the nearest accessible point on the Mainland at which cars can be landed. There is a steady volume of wheeled traffic between Victoria and Vancouver at all seasons of the year, rising to almost unmanageable proportions in the four months of the tourist season. A community on its way towards 200,000 people and some 50,000 motor vehicles should not be shunted into any second-best solution of its transportation problems. It is entitled to service in its own right.

His Worship should find a friend at Ottawa in Defence Minister G. R. Pearkes. While campaigning for re-election to the Island seat which he holds in the House of Commons, Mr. Pearkes stressed the importance to Victoria of a Sidney-Mainland ferry route. It was something, he said, which was badly needed. He went further, to advocate harbor improvements which will be necessary at Sidney in any event, and immediately so if a fast passenger and car ferry service is inaugurated. So there is some appreciation at Ottawa of what is implied in Victoria's determined bid for much needed improvement in the existing facilities.

Commercial enterprises and private individuals who have constant business with the Mainland have long been aware of the inadequacy of the present services. For visitors who call only for a week or two the delays may be supportable; but for residents who cannot get where they want to go without 80-mile detours and advance bookings the situation is not satisfactory. In some fashion the gap must be bridged soon. The delays and inconvenience will become intolerable unless Victorians can get to and from the Mainland by faster and more direct means.

Slow-Poke Drivers

SLOW drivers on fast highways are causing concern to the Victoria Automobile Club, which is reported to be considering an approach to the provincial government with a request for the passage of a new law to combat an annoying and often dangerous practice. It creates a nuisance which most drivers have experienced at one time or another.

The club favors copying a law now in force in California under which slow drivers are required to pull over to the side of the road when five or more vehicles are lined up behind them awaiting an opportunity to pass. It is difficult to see, however, where this would be an improvement on the section of the existing highway code in British Columbia intended to keep traffic flowing at the pace for which the highways are designed. Why five? Is it not just as much of a nuisance to hold up one car as a number of cars? A law which makes it an offence to block five cars but lawful to hold up four appears rather silly.

In B.C. this seems to be a matter more for enforcement than for the passing of new laws. The relevant section, added to the provincial code some years ago, makes it a punishable offence to drive at such a speed or in such a manner as to "impede the normal flow of traffic." That appears adequate for the purpose, and far more practicable than the California regulation under which a prosecution would, if defended, be hard to sustain without calling as witnesses the drivers of all five cars impeded, to establish that they did in fact wish to pass.

The law against "slow-poke" driving has occasionally been invoked in B.C. and on the Island but perhaps not often enough, for the practice is still all too common. It should be enforced to advantage also by the police forces of Greater Victoria, where middle-of-the-road driving at slow speed is a major cause of traffic congestion. It is a perfectly reasonable regulation imposing no hardship on the driver who chooses to maunder along at 15 or 20 miles an hour in a 30-mile zone, or at 30 to 35 on a 50-mile highway. If that is his preference, all he needs to do is to keep far enough to the right-hand side of the road to let others pass. That is no more than common courtesy, anyhow.

A Little Quietness, Please

PERHAPS if there were less shouting about the amalgamation-study petition in Oak Bay it might get somewhere. At least the normal course of democratic procedure would not be offended. There can be few people in the municipality who are not aware that amalgamation cannot be forced on them, or that the petition concerned is merely one that asks for a study of the subject. So much has been said in recent months on this topic all over Greater Victoria there is small room for ambiguity. The position of every group concerned has been made obvious time and again.

The official Oak Bay view as represented by the municipal council is well known: the council has a closed mind towards any and all aspects of amalgamation. For a governing body this is a mistake, for it denies the duty of examining the pros and cons of all proposals which might affect the municipality in its charge. Nevertheless the council cannot be legally faulted on its right to take this attitude if it so wishes, particularly if its electors have never objected to such a course. Nor under such circumstances can petitioner-proponents complain if councillors endeavor to persuade electors not to sign the petition.

For their part the promoters of the petition should be equally free to pursue their aims. They have rights also. There should be no official complaint against the circulation of any legitimate petition as such, and this particular petition is legitimate. Both the Jaycee petitioners and the Oak Bay council should cease their cross-cries of misrepresentation and let the citizens of the municipality make their decision. Acrimony simply confuses the matter. Each side has the same privilege as election candidates seeking the favor of an electorate, to present their views in the hope they will be endorsed. It should be a simple matter for each group to mind its own business and let the other mind its, appreciating that their claims are equal. In this way the result of the petition might be clear-cut, which it should be if it is to do any good one way or the other. The principals concerned should curb their animosities.

Interpreting the News:

Expenditure Caused Rift

By ED SIMON

Canadian Press Staff Writer

A CABINET crisis, like a domestic quarrel, usually runs deeper than its ostensible cause.

The difference of one per cent in government expenditure that led to Peter Thorneycroft's resignation as Britain's chancellor of the exchequer can be likened to the burned roast that sends a husband storming out of the house to the nearest hotel.

While £50,000,000 is a more imposing figure than one per cent, it was an underlying question of principle rather than the relatively small increase in the government's 1958 estimates that resulted in the departure of Thorneycroft and his treasury associates from Prime Minister Macmillan's cabinet.

Broadly, it was the age-old wrestling match between departments which has made the man holding the purse-strings unpopular with his associates ever since the dawn of the cabinet system of government. It was a similar dispute that sent George Humphrey into retirement last year after five years as President Eisenhower's secretary of the treasury.

The first consideration of any treasurer is to keep his books balanced. If his associates want to spend money on development projects or staff welfare schemes, he needs to know where the money is coming from.

Thorneycroft's view was that the safety of the pound depended on government expenditure being held rigidly within its present limits in conformity with the strictures he had urged on private industry and the British people as a whole.

Macmillan, in broad agreement with Thorneycroft's policies, felt that if the formula was applied at the expense of cutting down essential services, it would do more harm than good.

If, for example, cuts were made in social welfare projects, it would weaken the government's case in attempting to persuade trade unions to restrain their wage demands. A new round of wage increases or a wave of strikes would cause greater damage to Great Britain's economic position than a small increase in government spending.

Thinking Aloud

". . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

THE picture was of a new French warship, an aircraft carrier, and the caption referred to her as a "sleek behemoth." They tell me that the behemoth Job talks about was probably a hippopotamus and if a hippopotamus is a sleek creature so must be sputnik. Sleekit, perhaps, but not sleek.

A fat man if he is well-groomed can be sleek, and so it appears is every ship nowadays. This is the most overworked adjective in the maritime world, although by descriptive writers and not mariners.

A pencil-like destroyer, or the new Canadian D-E of ultra-smooth design, is a sleek thing—allowing that one never demeans a vessel by calling her a thing—but not, surely, an aircraft carrier. As this writer can testify from experience one may grow fond of a carrier, but scarcely of her looks. I would not insult one by calling her a behemoth, but, indubitably, she has lots of bulk. To the captain of the Cutty Sark she probably would have loomed as one of the ugly sisters.

* * *

Sailing skippers are of another breed, of course. I was talking to a master mariner the other night who has sampled both sail and steam and there was no mistaking the slight touch of nostalgia as he recalled his early days before the mast. Only a touch, however, for he remembered that the romance of sail encompasses smoky oil lamps and the smell of bilge and much discomfort, and anyway he has stood on the bridge of many a steamship.

But the "lines" of ships came into conversation although never that overworked word sleek. His bent was to speak of grace and beauty, as when he mentioned the Empress of Britain, so rudely sunk by barbarians during the war. What did they know of nobility of form. He was an old CPR man so naturally I had to discount his prejudice, but I remember a visiting marine engineer telling me a few years back that the Britain was the bonniest ship ever to leave the Clyde.

* * *

Bonnie means looks, as any maid to whom you address this compliment will prove by her bashful smile; better not call her sleek, in her hearing at any rate. And it is the looks of ships that change. Set a picture of HMCS Rainbow alongside one of 1957's HMCS Fraser and you will see what 50 years can do to ship styles.

They, however, unlike the ladies whose sex they adopt, tend to leave the "sack" behind and become what we call stream-lined, which doubtless is why they are often so boringly termed sleek. True enough I saw another ship picture recently, of a canal puffer, and her squat ungainly poise suggested she ignored the fashions, but she was an old model-T of the waters. It will be a long time before every automobile of ancient vintage disappears and it will be equally long before square bridges and round funnels no longer dot the oceans.

But ships, you might say, are on a diet, aiming at the kind of sylph-like shape you see in dress shop windows. Often the latter is deceiving for there's a tuck held by a pin at the back which hides the billow; there can be no deception about a ship, however. There is no need for camouflage anyway, because the current trend of shipbuilding design is pleasing to the eye. My summertime colleague Richard L. Thomas was startled when he saw what he thought was a giant silver beetle crossing the strait to Port Angeles, but this is a very functional and, perhaps, extreme version of what we are discussing.

* * *

I am aware that the layman's eye cannot be depended upon, or so the art critics will tell you if you suspect the verity of some contemporary canvas, but this writer's eye is of long standing. He grew up in the very cradle of ships and bolsters his ego by fancying he has a nautical flavor about him. That he managed nevertheless to mature without really knowing very much about ships is passing strange and not to his credit, but his eyesight, happily, always has been fairly good. Thus it is that the sight of a ship in reality or on paper arouses his interest and admiration.

Thus it is also that he wonders how an aircraft carrier can be either sleek or behemoth. He has an affectionate rememberance of one called Maggie and she was certainly no hippopotamus. If she were inclined to stoutness instead of slimness that was her destined fate, for neither she nor her owners could afford to put her on a diet. Some plump people as well as ships are nevertheless pleasing to look at, remember for all of our predilection for—save the word—sleekness.

With the Classics

The strength of the ship is the Service.
And the strength of the Service, the ship.

Letter from London

Mother Britain and Malta's Candy

By RICHARD L. THOMAS

BELIEVE it or not but Mr. Don Mintoff, the prime minister of Malta, is rather a loveable chap. His latest gesture is a magnificent piece of theatrical defiance. It is so very embarrassing to the colonial secretary, Mr. Lennox-Boyd. He is in the position of the proud parent of a child who lies down on the sidewalk kicking its legs in the air in frustrated rage.

Mr. Lennox-Boyd has either to leave the kid to its own devices, squawking in the middle of the Mediterranean, or he has got to admit ownership and pick the kid up. It is as simple as that and Mr. Mintoff knows it—just as he knows that the British conscience is not as ruthless as to leave him to his own devices.

* * *

It is something which ought never to have happened. Britain has accepted in principle the integration of Malta as part of the British Isles broadly on the pattern of Northern Ireland. It will retain its parliament for local affairs and it will send three members to Westminster. It means also that the British welfare state would be exported to Malta.

For more than two years the colonial office has been haggling about details. The poor kid has been offered a piece of candy which mother has been waving before its watering mouth and saying in effect, "Be a good boy and listen to mother and you'll have your candy." After a little while the kid gets irritated, then annoyed and finally explodes in a fit of petulance.

The colonial secretary used some pretty phrases in his telegram designed to conciliate Mr. Mintoff. "We are holding talks." "We hope to attract new industries." "no possibility of widespread unemployment in the near future," "reasonable prospect of continued high level of employment over the next three years."

To Mr. Mintoff such phrases are like coals heaped on the fires impatient resentment originally kindled by the interminable delays. Make no mistake, he knows as well as anyone that Malta's survival depends upon Britain. It is impotence which inspires the fireworks. He has suggested airily that the United States might like to take over, rather like the petulant child who announces solemnly that he would like to live with Uncle Sam. In fact Uncle Sam has no wish to be any further embroiled with other people's children.

* * *

It sounds good, hearty and nasty. It hurts mother, who cannot understand why all her loving care is so misunderstood. Didn't she give Malta the George Cross for being a very good and very brave little boy during the war? Didn't she give him nearly $100,000,000 to help replace the 35,000 completely destroyed houses and compensate the relatives of the 2,000 dead? Hasn't she promised the candy of integration? Why this display of temper? Sheer emotionalism!

It is, of course, emotionalism. Worried people get emotional. The hungry man is not interested in a technical lecture on food production. He wants something to eat. Mr. Mintoff is genuinely concerned with human values, with 300,000 underprivileged people, and worried stiff about the possibility of mass unemployment. He is concerned with realities rather than pious platitudes.

It may have made him behave badly. Petulant children are irritating not least because they live in the world of today instead of tomorrow.

It is suggested that the Colonial Office tends to live in a world of yesterdays and tomorrows but as little as possible, and never if it can help it, in the world of today. It cuts tradition and red tape with blunt scissors. Mr. Mintoff merely wishes to demonstrate that he is still there, and he has done it fabulously well.

* * *

In one glorious moment of prima donna temperament he has put Britain on the defensive. No doubt many people in the wider world will be quite convinced that mother cannot be a very good mother if her child behaves like that. And there is something to it. Malta is an island of 300,000 largely underprivileged people carving a living out of Mediterranean rock and what the Royal Navy gives it—the basic national income of the dockyard. They want some form of security — something that gives the future longer than three years and offers the children of their massive fertility rate something to work for. They may be asking for the moon.

What is obvious is that Malta has asked for more than she really hopes to get. Britain has offered less than she really expects to have to give. The formula is known to very student of labor relations. But you cannot go on arguing forever and if Mr. Mintoff succeeds in making the Colonial Office wake up and put a bit of life into things he will have got what he is after. Every kid knows that the technique usually works. And why should he care about mama's embarrassment?

Dr. Chisholm Again

By W. A. FERGUSON, DD

IT is often difficult to decide whether Dr. Chisholm's pronouncements should be treated as a joke or a menace. If (as may well be the case) they are intended simply "epater les bourgeois," to shock the ordinary man and his wife, we may — or may not—see the humor of them. If we are to accept them as the serious conclusions of an enlightened mind, they are likely to arouse grave misgivings.

He has already done his best to dissipate several of the pathetic fallacies which used to cloud youthful minds: Christmas-legends, Sunday School fairy tales and the like. Now in an article in Maclean's (Dec. 21, 1957), he proceeds to shatter another idol from the past, the Ten Commandments.

In the 20th century, he says, some of them no longer apply; and he selects, as indeed we might have expected, an example in the 5th Commandment. "Honor thy father and thy mother; that thy days may be long in the land." He explains that this was all right in the early days of Israel, when your parents "were entitled to do you in" if you did not give them due respect, and adds jocosely that nowadays, honoring parents does not lengthen life at all.

* * *

What the Commandment actually means in modern terms is, "respect (and obey) your parents, that God's blessing may rest upon you"—long life being, in Hebrew minds, the special mark of divine favor. But in fact, the exact nature of the promised reward is quite unimportant. What Dr. Chisholm is attacking, is (a) the imposition of a positive command—upon the young, and (b) the upholding of parental authority. Let young people decide for themselves whom and what (if anything) they will respect or obey.

Passing over the inaccuracy of the statement that "your parents were entitled to do you in" (for Hebrew parents had no such unrestricted right), and the elegant English in which it is expressed, it is enough to notice the obvious intention to abolish the last remnants of family solidarity and discipline, and to offer to the young a fresh charter of licence—in fact, to endorse the principles upon which too many of them have been acting, and which have produced the wave of juvenile crime and outrage from which society is suffering.

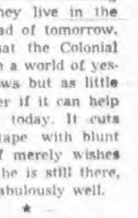
* * *

It seems a particularly unfortunate moment in history for this kind of teaching. At a time when all, or almost all, sober opinion is demanding more discipline in every department of North American life, especially in home and school, as the inescapable condition of survival, not to say success, in a fiercely competitive world; when Sputnik and other portents have jolted even the most complacent into some awareness of the real position; when the general public is, at last, awakening to the grim consequences of parental abdication, and of schooling without discipline or effort—it is hard to understand what spirit of perversity prompts someone of Dr. Chisholm's ability and influence to attack and seek to destroy the most important and the best of all sources of discipline—the kindly and understanding authority of the home.

The Packsack

By GREGORY CLARK

ONE of the best things about being poor or tight-fisted, or in narrow circumstances, is that you always get the best seats in the house for ballet, or symphony concerts, or opera, or, indeed, much of theatre. The best seats are those at the back of the gallery, or in the gods. From that vantage, you not only get the full symphony of the music, but the pure vision of the action, the movement and the color. Directors of ballet and opera always go to those positions in the theatre to see and hear it, whole.



Some years ago, when the prejudice of the First World War had died down and the first of the great German conductors was touring Canada, there was a program directed by him consisting entirely of Wagner. Finding myself free at the last minute, the only tickets I could get were in the gods. Just behind me sat Vincent Massey, not yet right honorable. He had the score on his knee and read it while he listened. I knew Mr. Massey was not poor, nor in straightened circumstances, and I had information that he was not tight-fisted. In the intermission, I asked him if he had had trouble getting tickets too.

"No, no!" he laughed. "The best seats in the house."

Those seats down front, the $3.50, the $5 seats, are for those who want to get in on the act. They can't get on the stage; so they take next best.

To be transported by ballet, symphony, theatre, pretend you are poor, even if you are not. At the proper distance, the dream lets you into it.

Letters to the Editor

Down to Size

Your gifted columnist, G. E. Mortimore, is to be heartily congratulated on the manner in which he stands firmly in favor of fluoridation, cutting through the many red-herring claims of the opposition and reducing the anti-fluoridationists "authorities" to exactly what they are: "quacks, peddlers of pamphlets or holders of man-made degrees."

Fluoridation is decidedly not a recent nor incomplete study as some are led to believe. Scientists observed the benefits of natural water fluoridation as early as the last quarter of the 19th Century, and scientific studies began around 1900. Research scientists themselves say that no public health program has ever received a more exhaustive or conclusive study than has fluoridation, nor have research and practising doctors and dentists been more unified in their support.

Far from being a study only during the last decade, completely conclusive fluoridation research studies have been a matter of record for over 10 years. These last few years have been devoted to re-emphasizing the need for fluoridation and educating the public to this simple, safe and effective control.

Wrong Idea

Alderman McEwen seems to be confused in his ideas of SPCA work if he considers the SPCA detrimental to the Community Chest.

How can any humanitarian organization be detrimental to any cause, especially when it deals with living beings, two-legged or four? All suffer life's miseries with its cruelties, neglect, pain, cold and hunger.

Dog pound operations are only a minor part of SPCA duties, as the name implies, the prevention of cruelty to animals.

When one thinks of cattle shipments, slaughter houses, zoos, riding stables, circuses, aviaries, farm markets, fur farms, exhibitions, hunting, rodeos, etc.—cases concerning all of which have at one time or another come before our courts—one realizes how broad is the scope of the work. All these enterprises whether they be for profit or pleasure have to be constantly inspected, which takes a great deal of time and money.

The old folk, the poor and needy also appreciate the assistance the SPCA gives, as their pets are often the only joy or companionship they have.

The provincial government issued the act of incorporation for the establishment of the BCSPCA in 1895 and it would be very propitious at this time to summarize the objects of the society; to prevent cruelty where and when possible, to promote the welfare of living creatures, to enforce laws, institute criminal proceedings when necessary, to promote new legislation for the welfare of animals, to encourage and carry out educational programs, to form and establish branches, to provide shelter for the care of sick, injured, lost or strayed animals, domestic or wild, and so on. One can see there is no end to the extent of work the society would do if funds were available.

During my 30 years of membership in the SPCA I have been repeatedly astonished at the vast amount of unintentional suffering caused by uninformed persons. Eternal vigilance is necessary.

No Ill-Effects

Would you allow space for this statement appearing in the Nov. 29, 1957, issue of the B.C. Heart Bulletin, the official publication of the B.C. Heart Foundation:

"Much interest has been aroused in many B.C. municipalities by proposed plebiscites on fluoridation of water supplies. Despite the outright recommendations of the various dental, medical and public health organizations on this continent, opponents of fluoridation are putting up a spirited resistance.

"One of the arguments used against fluoridation is the suggestion that its introduction into the water supply of a community leads to an increased number of leukemia and heart disease cases among other things.

"The foundation's medical advisory committee states categorically that there is no indication of any ill-effects on the heart and blood vessels as a result of a fluoridated water supply. The committee also endorses the stand already taken by the Vancouver, B.C., Canadian and American Medical Associations, all of which have recommended fluoridation."

A Boy and His Bike

Hoodlumism needs nipping in the bud. How unconcerned should a mother feel when her young son's bike is stolen? Sit back and wait until some shiftless lout of a person has spent the money realized on its sale, or wrecked it?

I'm afraid in this case the wrong bike has been taken. I have no sob story. Whether I am able to provide my son with another bike is of no consequence. But to teach some one true respect for the property of others, and to protect other young boys, I appeal to all who might have information of my son's bike. I offer $25 reward to find the person responsible.

My son's bike was left last Sunday, Jan. 5, in the bike rack near the tea room in Mount Douglas Park and has never been seen since. It is a "Glider" three-speed bike, wine-red color, chrome mudguards; light and horn attached.

Ski Club Wins Use Of Lake

Public works committee of city council agreed yesterday that the Victoria Aqua Ski Club should have the use of Elk Lake for a few days in August for the Canadian open water ski championships.

(The club applied to use Beaver Lake, but the committee took the request to mean Elk Lake.)

The club, however, will not be able to charge admission to the shore of the lake, the committee found. Instead, a collection will be suggested.

Water Commissioner James Garnett, said that proposed creation of a "scenic drive" would open the way for subdivision and consequent pollution of the water.

Skipper Quits Unhappy Ship

Capt. Robert Reid, ailing skipper of a British freighter undergoing repairs at Esquimalt graving dock, will be replaced, it was learned last night.

It is expected a man will be flown from Scotland to take command of the 10,000-ton Baron Inverclyde, when it sails Tuesday.

The 55-year-old master is "a very sick man . . . doctors have ordered that he be relieved," a spokesman for King Bros. Ltd., Victoria agents of the ship, said. He has an internal ailment.

News of the action followed acute dissatisfaction with the state of life on the tramp freighter that was expressed by more than 20 of the 42-man crew to a member of the Colonist on board the vessel last night.

The ship made news earlier feeding the boilers gave out completely just off Race Rocks and the ship limped in to anchorage at Royal Roads. It was towed to the drydock Monday.

No boilers meant no heat, and the chilly crewmen brewed tea and cooked food over open fires on the ship's after-deck.

The men claimed last night this was a final straw in a growing discontent over a series of injustices.

The men, who had signed on for two years of tramping the world over for port-to-port cargo carrying, said main complaints were that they seldom got shore leave and that they were not given advances of pay in port.

It was reported that neither seamen nor apprentices are receiving pay for overtime work.

A spokesman for the ship's owners admitted conditions may have deteriorated because "on these tramps you have to be a tough skipper . . . and Capt. Reid has been very ill."

But, he said, also much of the trouble could be laid to the fact that many of the young crewmen are "Teddy Boy" types who are just at sea to evade the English draft. The draft evasion was freely admitted by one of the young men, who is not quite 20.

'Crippled' Habs On 11-3 Spree; Geoffrion Hot

If Montreal Canadiens are crippled now, what are the other teams in the National Hockey League going to do when they recover their health?

Playing without Maurice Richard, Jean Beliveau and Doug Harvey, the Canadiens rolled up their highest score in two seasons last night, blasting Chicago Black Hawks, 11-3, to build their league lead to an amazing 17 points.

Bernie Geoffrion led the rout with three goals and rookie Gene Achtymichuk, former Victoria Cougar, filling in for Beliveau, added two more—his second and third of the season. Other goals were scored by Henri Richard, Dickie Moore, Marcel Bonin, Andre Pronovost, Bert Olmstead and Jean-Guy Talbot.

	GP	W	L	T	F	A	Pts
Montreal	39	26	8	5	147	80	57
New York	41	19	17	5	106	112	43
Detroit	40	15	18	7	87	115	37
Boston	38	14	17	8	104	104	36
Toronto	39	13	18	8	104	110	34
Chicago	38	13	19	6	72	103	32

Last night's scores: Chicago 3 at Montreal 11; Boston 1 at Detroit 6.
Next games Saturday: New York at Montreal, Chicago at Detroit, Boston at Toronto.

In registering the highest score in the NHL this season, the Habs counted 11 goals and 19 assists for 30 points, and notched their sixth win in seven starts against Chicago. The other game was tied.

Henri Richard also collected an assist, and moved into a tie for the NHL scoring lead with Moore. Each has 46 points. Moore has 20 goals, one more than the Pocket Rocket.

Richard opened scoring on a goal reminiscent of those scored by his elder brother. He took a pass at centre from Olmstead, split the defence at the blueline, and with Pierre Pilote still hanging on his shoulders, pulled Glenn Hall out of position to beat him with a backhander. When the play was over, Hall and Pilote were both tangled in the net.

BRILLIANT EFFORTS

Richard played one of his finest games of the season as did Geoffrion, who has been setting a tremendous pace for the Habs. He now has 21 goals, 11 of them scored since Dec. 15.

The loss snapped a three-game win streak for Chicago and was the first suffered by the Hawks since Rudy Pilous took over as coach.

Meanwhile, the Detroit Red Wings scored their eighth straight win on home ice and racked up their highest goal-total of the season by drubbing Boston Bruins, 6-1.

The victory moved Detroit past the Bruins into third place, three points behind the New York Rangers. Detroit has never been as high as third this season.

Six different players scored for Detroit. Bob Bailey and Jack McIntyre scored in the first period, Al Arbour and Johnny Wilson in the second, and Nick Mickoski and Gordie Howe in the third.

Vic Stasiuk got Boston's only goal. Stasiuk and linemates John Bucyk and Bronco Horvath have scored 15 of Boston's 32 goals against the Wings this season.

Boston defenceman Jack Bionda was helped off the ice in the first period, after being struck on the head by the puck.

In a sidelight last night, coach Phil Watson of the New York Rangers has given goalie Marcel Paille a two-game "produce or else" ultimatum, and will presumably recall Gump Worsley if Paille doesn't come through.

Rangers play the Canadiens and Wings in their next two games.

WHL to Crack Down on Rules; New Playoff System Drawn Up

Stricter enforcement of rules designed to speed up play, a new playoff system, and placing of the Edinburgh Cup series strictly on a challenge basis were major decisions made yesterday at the semi-annual meeting of the Western Hockey League.

Al Leader, who was signed to a new three-year contract as league president, reported by telephone last night that referees will be given instructions to enforce the rules strictly.

Main aim of the "tough" policy is to prevent the many stoppages caused by freezing the puck against the boards. Leader said that a penalty would be meted out to the player responsible for causing a stoppage of play in this manner.

The rule will also be strictly enforced as regards goalkeepers. Netminders who fall on the puck behind the red line or freeze the puck against the boards or back of the nets will be penalized. They will also get a penalty for any unnecessary holding of the puck while inside their crease.

Hooking, interference, holding, cross-checking and high-sticking will also be checked more closely and in general to speed up play, club captains who come off the players' bench to argue about a decision will get automatic misconduct penalties.

After considerable discussion, a new playoff system was adopted. It calls for the division leaders to meet in a best-of-seven and semi-final while second and third-place clubs in each division play each other in best-of-five quarter-finals, the winners then meeting in a best-of-five semi-final.

That would mean, on present standings, that Vancouver Canucks and Winnipeg Warriors would meet in the best-of-seven semi-final while New Westminster and Seattle in the Western Division and Edmonton and either Calgary or Saskatoon division would play each other division woul dplay each other in the quarter-finals.

STARTS ON COAST

The semi-final between the division champions would start at the Coast. If the first two games are split, a third game would be played on the home ice of the Western champion. Then the clubs would move East for the next three games and if the series went the limit, return to the Coast for the deciding game.

Before the playoff method was decided, Victoria Cougars were almost voted in the playdowns.

New Westminster brought up the idea of having all four clubs in the playdowns and it appeared for a while as if that would be the decision. However, two or three clubs, including the Royals, were persuaded to vote otherwise and the motion was turned down by a 6-2 vote. Victoria and Saskatoon-St. Paul were in the minority.

No set amount was decided on for the playoff pool. Players will share in 50 per cent of receipts, after taxes, on the minimum number of games needed to decide each series.

CHALLENGE SERIES

Prediction that the Edinburgh Cup series, between the WHL and Quebec Hockey League champions, would be officially dropped were borne out. The trophy series is now strictly a challenge affair with arrangements, if any, to be made by the clubs who come out on top in league playdowns.

Coast division clubs voted unanimously to retain the 15-player limit and the Prairie division clubs followed suit, although most of them appeared to favor the cut to 12 players.

However, since some of the Prairie clubs had already sliced their rosters below 15 players, Coast clubs will ice the same number of men as their Prairie rivals in the remaining inter-divisional games.

Other decisions saw the appointment of Coley Hall of Vancouver, Fred Hume of New Westminster, John Moyer of Calgary, Jack Perrin of Winnipeg and the league president as trustees for the benefit fund for players, and the setting of the annual league meeting for May in Calgary.

Success of the first all-star game, won Wednesday night, 5-3, by the Western Division, has assured its continuation. Victoria has asked to be the host club for the 1959 game but Vancouver is the probable choice.

Soccer Fan Pays Dearly

PAMPLONA, Spain (UP)—A local court yesterday handed Blas Abadia, one of Pamplona's top soccer fans, a "stiff penalty for jumping into the field during a major game Sunday and insulting the referee."

Abadia was ordered to stay away from all games during the remainder of the current soccer season, which ends in June. He must report to the local police station at kickoff hour every time a game is played here, the court ruled.

Sensational Aussie Prodigy Sets Two World Swim Marks

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Thirteen-year-old Ilse Konrads, newest of Australia's swimming prodigies, Thursday broke the world free-style records for 880 yards and 800 metres in winning the New South Wales championship. It was her first competitive race for the half mile.

The Latvian-born high school girl took huge slices off records set by Australia's great Lorraine Crapp. She was timed in 10 minutes, 17.7 seconds for 880 yards and 10.11.1 at the 800-metre (875 yards) mark.

Ilse clipped 16.9 seconds off the listed 880-yard record of 10.34.6 and 19.8 seconds off the recognized 800-metre standard of 10.30.9. The old marks were set by Miss Crapp, Olympic champion, in the same 55-yard North Sydney Olympic pool, Jan. 14, 1956. Lorraine, now 19, was clocked in 10.3.42 for 800 metres in Honolulu last July 12.

Miss Crapp did not race against Miss Konrads Thursday night. She competed in the 110-yard championship, which she won by a touch over Cookie Gastelaars of The Netherlands.

Australia's Sandra Morgan, 15, was third. Lorraine was timed in 1.04.7, 1.5 seconds behind her own Australian record.

SPECTACULAR DEBUT

Ilse made a spectacular debut in big-time competition in this meet. She broke five minutes for 440 yards twice on successive nights, finishing half a yard behind Miss Crapp in the championship final Wednesday night.

Ilse's performance Thursday night was all the more remarkable in that she set her own pace in her first race over the distance. She took the lead early and finished 40 yards in front of Corrie Schimmel, a Dutch star.

Ilse, a five-foot-five, 119-pound sensation, turned in a great second quarter. She was timed in 5.12.2 for the final 440 yards. She sprinted the last lap of 55 yards in 35.7 seconds. At the finish she was given a tremendous ovation by the capacity crowd.

Ilse has her heart set on making the Australian team for the British Empire Games at Cardiff, Wales, this summer. Off her sensational performances in the last three days she seems a cinch.

"Who is there to beat this girl in the 1960 Olympics at Rome?" Miss Schimmel asked.

Last night's score: Saskatoon-St. Paul 2 at Winnipeg 5.
Next game: Friday, Seattle at Edmonton (inter-divisional).

WINNIPEG—Winnipeg Warriors, sparked by veteran Billy Mosienko and Earl Ingarfield, opened up an eight-point lead in the Prairie division of the Western Hockey League here last night with a 5-2 victory over Saskatoon-St. Paul Regals.

Mosienko scored his 20th and 21st goals of the season in the first period after Bob Kabel had got the Regals off to a 1-0 lead. Kabel came through with his 19th goal of the season to tie it up early in the second period, but Ingarfield teamed up with Gord Redahl to score twice, and Danny Summers got the final goal before the period-ended.

Warriors stormed in on Lucien Dechene throughout the game, pouring a total of 42 shots a him. Ray Mikulan had to block only 14 for Winnipeg.

Meet Canucks Tonight

Cougars Keep Looking In Effort to Bolster

Victoria Cougars, who were voted down in the bid to include all Western Hockey League clubs in post season playdowns, hope to start a drive which will earn them a spot when they tangle with the Canucks at Vancouver tonight.

The Cougars return home for a game against New Westminster Royals tomorrow night.

Manager Colin Kliburn, who arrived back from the semi-annual league meeting at Calgary last night, said in a telephone conversation from Vancouver that the club is continuing its efforts to strengthen.

He had hoped to obtain one or two players from Eastern Division clubs but their decision to go along with the Western Division in the matter of retaining the 15-player limit has, apparently, doomed hopes in that direction.

DEAL BREWING

However, a deal with the Seattle Americans is in the making. It will not be decided until manager-coach Keith Allen has returned to Seattle and had a talk with his new owners. Names of the players who might be involved were not disclosed.

While the Cougars lost out on the playoff decision and didn't manage to make a deal, they won a point when league directors backed up president Al Leader's decision on a Victoria protest of the Oct. 23 game here won by New Westminster Royals, 7-6.

Cougars appealed on a misinterpretation of the rules by the referee and Leader ordered the game replayed from the time that referee Lloyd Gilmour handed New Westminster manager Hal Laycoe a gross misconduct penalty instead of a team penalty as called for by the rules.

That took place at 7.13 of the third period during an argument over offside on a goal by Royals' Arnie Schmautz which broke a 4-4 tie. Laycoe threw a towel on the ice during the heated discussion, and rules distinctly call for a team penalty, which would have given the Cougars a man advantage for two minutes.

Leader agreed that the Cougars had a case and ordered the game replayed. Laycoe appealed to the league, which yesterday backed Leader. The game will be replayed from 7.13 of the third period at a time agreed on by the two clubs involved. It will be played on one of the Royals' scheduled appearances here, probably before the start of the scheduled game.

Cougars will keep John Yanchuk, young defenceman on option from the Royals, on the sidelines tonight at Vancouver. Coach Pat Egan and newcomer Rags Raglan will play on one defence, Carl Kaiser and Nels Bulloch on the other.

Up front, Ed Dorohoy will have Colin and Doug Kilburn as his wingers, Gordie Wilson will centre Frank Milne and Doug Macauley and Stan Baliuk will make the plays for Gordie Haworth, who has shifted from centre to left-wing, and Blinky Boyce. Bud Syverson will be the 15th player and may see some service on a wing as well as on defence.

Taylor Starts Fast In Duncan Bonspiel

DUNCAN—Play in Duncan's annual bonspiel started yesterday morning and continued through most of the night as 39 rinks, eight of them from Victoria, went after prizes in the five events.

Several rinks had a busy day, curling three times within a few hours, and two got away to a fast start with three successive wins. Gar Taylor of Victoria squeaked by Bob Fuller of Nanaimo, 8-7, in his first game, then beat G. Thommander of Duncan, 10-5, and Frank Garraway of Victoria, also 10-5.

The other triple winner was Tony Folk of Duncan, who beat Ron and Glen Harper and Roy Scheppart, all of Duncan.

Larry Marshall of Victoria won both his games while Reg Wright, Bob McIntosh, Sam Rycroft and Garraway each won and lost in two games. The other Victoria rinks, entered by Kirby Moysey and Ron Webster, lost in their only game.

Oliver to Manage City Curling Club

W. S. "Bill" Oliver, well-known Victorian who has been manager of the Nanaimo Civic Arena since 1954, is the new manager of the Victoria Curling Club.

He succeeds Howie Neff, who resigned his post this week for health reasons. Neff took over management of the club last spring.

Oliver, who has recently served in the dual capacity of arena and parks and recreation commission manager at Nanaimo, announced his resignation yesterday in Nanaimo.

He will take over his new duties by the end of the month. One of his biggest tasks will come in late February and early March, when the Victoria club hosts the centennial bonspiel and the Canadian championships.

Realistic Amateur Attitude

Fairest Code in Sports

O'Sullivan Case Proves Golf Plays Fair with Player

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)—Golf's realistic attitude toward amateurism compared with the hypocrisy of some other sports has permitted former Augusta titleholder Pat O'Sullivan to regain her amateur standing just as did such stars as Babe Didrikson Zaharias.

Most sports—such as tennis—consider it an everlasting taint for a performer to turn professional. Even playing against a pro is grounds enough for a competitor to lose Simon pure ranking for good.

But the O'Sullivan case proves again that golf, which permits amateurs to compete against pros in open tournaments, has the fairest code in sports.

The general rule in golf is that a pro can regain amateur standing after a two-year probationary period if he or she hasn't been a professional for more than five years. Sometime the period in sackcloth and ashes is shorter, as in the one-year probation of Harvie Ward who became a pro of sorts by accepting too much expense money.

"Of course, a long-time pro such as Sam Snead, Jimmy Demaret or Gene Sarazen could never regain amateur standing," says Joe Dey, executive secretary of the U.S. Golf Association. "They would never lose the advantage the years had given them."

He points out, also, that golf doesn't brand a man an all-around professional because he takes money in one sport. As a case in point, Babe Ruth was registered as an amateur golfer.

Mrs. Zaharias was an amateur and a pro twice. The Babe turned pro after making a reputation as an amateur track and swimming star. Eventually she served her penance and returned to golf as an amateur, winning the British and American crowns. Then to capitalize on her golfing ability, she turned pro again and won everything in sight before her untimely death.

It is doubtful whether Miss O'Sullivan will turn pro again. Before deciding to play for cash, she won the Augusta meet in 1951 by outscoring Mrs. Zaharias, Patty Berg and Louise Suggs. She took the Eastern amateur twice, the North-South amateur three times and six times was Connecticut amateur champion.

But two years on the pro circuit cured her. Competing in 20 tournaments, her best finish was a third in the White Mountain Open.

"Expenses on the pro circuit are terrific," she explained. "And it's quite different looking at the game from the inside. For men it's possibly different. But it's more difficult for a woman to maintain that fierce competitive urge you need to be a winner.

"And now," she says with a sigh, "golf will be fun again."

Lions Recommend Break from CRU; Rosburg in Lead

Directors of the B.C. Lions have voted to recommend that the Western Interprovincial Football Union withdraw from the Canadian Rugby Union, claiming professional football has problems different from other CRU-controlled organizations.

Lions, at their general meeting Wednesday night, favored formation of an organization within the Canadian Football Council to control professional football. The recommendation, also favored by other WIFU and Big Four clubs, will be put forward at the annual meetings of the council and the WIFU in Winnipeg Jan. 17-19.

Lion manager Herb Capozzi said the biggest fault with being controlled by the CRU is that under the present set-up a contrary vote by any amateur league could block changing of a rule that might benefit the professionals.

It was also understood that the Lions will request that the WIFU increase its import limit to a minimum of 14, two more than last season.

Pop Ivy Resigns as Edmonton Coach— Accepts 'Liberal' Offer by NFL Cards

EDMONTON (CP)—Cecil Ross, president of Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Interprovincial Football Union, announced Thursday night that coach Frank (Pop) Ivy has signed to coach Chicago Cardinals of the National Football League.

Ivy, 41, led Eskimos of the Western Interprovincial Football Union, to three successive Grey Cup championships in 1954, 1955 and 1956, and to the WIFU regular schedule first place in 1957.

Ivy, who came to Edmonton in 1954 from Oklahoma University, won an all-America rating while playing for Oklahoma in 1939. Later he played as an end in the National Football League for Pittsburgh and Chicago Cardinals.

Ivy returned to Oklahoma in 1948 as assistant coach under Bud Wilkinson and came to Edmonton to replace Darrel Royal, now coach at Texas University.

YEAR TO GO

Ivy, a native of Skiatook, Okla., still had a year to go on a contract with Edmonton but the Edmonton club gave him permission to negotiate with Cardinals and wished him well in his new post.

Club officials also said that Ray Prochaska, 38, assistant coach for Eskimos, has been offered the head coaching job but that Prochaska has not yet decided.

Both Ivy and Prochaska, formerly an end with the University of Nebraska and an assistant coach with the university, are in Chicago.

Ivy, soft spoken but firm in coaching mannerisms, was offered more money to return to Edmonton but is reported to have found the Chicago deal more suitable as far as financial and family commitments are concerned.

Prochaska, 38, played with Nebraska before joining Cleveland Rams, now Los Angeles Rams, of the NFL. Prochaska joined the Nebraska coaching staff in 1946 and stayed there until he came to Edmonton in 1955.

Walter Wolfner, managing director of the National Football League Cardinals, said "he's the man he wanted from the start and he'll get the job done." Wolfner declined to give details of Ivy's contract but said "it is a liberal one."

"He's the man we wanted from the start and he'll get the job done," said Walter Wolfner, managing director of the National Football League Cardinals. Wolfner declined to give details of Ivy's contract but said "it is a liberal one."

Ivy's salary at Edmonton has never been given out in line with the club policy of not divulging any salaries.

Unofficial speculation though was that Ivy was paid $18,500 a year.

"I'm happy to be back home where I started in professional football," he said. "It's a fine opportunity to advance in the coaching profession."

Red Netters Consider Entering Junior Play

LONDON (AP) — Soviet tennis players may enter the Wimbledon tournament next summer for the first time, but only for competition in the junior division.

This was brought out after there were reports that Russian players might enter the tournament. The word came over Moscow radio.

IN THE DARK

"We have heard nothing here about the Russians actually submitting entries," said S. Basil Reay, secretary of the British Lawn Tennis Association.

"The only thing we heard some weeks ago was they might send some junior players to appear in tournaments leading up to Wimbledon. They said nothing about junior Wimbledon itself." That is the tournament for players under 18, which runs concurrently with the senior events.

The London Star, meanwhile, says it telephoned Victor Kolegorsky, head of the U.S.S.R. tennis section in Moscow, and he made it clear that younger players would go to England. The Star says Kolegorsky made it plain Russia intended to "feel her way" into international competition.

The Russians have been carrying out an intense campaign to bring tennis into popularity at factories.

At Wimbledon last year, Semen Belitz-German, Soviet state tennis coach, said the number of Russian players had increased from 25,000 to 40,000 in five years.

Dodgers Could Steal Temporary Ball Park

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers may be able to steal a base in suburban Pasadena before the opposition there has time to throw them out with a petition movement.

Pasadena's chief legal officer, for one, says he can't see any real obstacle—so far as the law is concerned—to an agreement under which the Dodgers would rent Pasadena's Rose Bowl for a season of two. Los Angeles City lawyer Frank Kostlan made the statement when asked about a threatened campaign aimed at keeping the baseball team out of the 100,000-seat football stadium.

The petition, if it got on the election ballot this June and was approved by the voters, would have the force of law. But the catch is that it wouldn't be retroactive, Kostlan says, and any contract the Dodgers might sign with the city before then would be valid until its specified expiration date.

If there is going to be such a contract, it will have to be signed before the June election because the ex-Brooklyn club must get into a park by mid-April, when the National League season opens.

Many of the people supporting the petition live in the neighborhood around the bowl and feel the advent of the ball club would adversely affect their property values.

Inter-High Hoop

Mt. Douglas trounced Victoria High, 26-11, Wednesday in their girls' inter-high school basketball game at Mt. Douglas gym.

'Y' Swimmers Claim Three More Records

Three more Canadian records were claimed by Victoria Y swimming club members Wednesday as the 10-day conditioning program which preceded the assault on Dominion marks continued to pay dividends.

All three records set Wednesday were for junior events in a 20-yard pool. The records, along with the two girls' relay marks set Monday, will be submitted to the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association for official recognition.

The Y junior boys' relay team covered the 160-yard medley course in one minute, 32 seconds, breaking the old mark of 1.33.7 set by Ocean Falls Swimming Club. Members of the team were Bob Wheaton, backstroke; Stan Cameron, breaststroke; Doug Patterson, butterfly, and Bruce Warburton, freestyle.

Wheaton swam the 40-yard backstroke in 21.5 seconds, besting the mark of 21.8 set by former Y swimmer Eric Jubb.

Sue Morgan established the third record, swimming the 40-yard junior girls' breaststroke in 28.3 seconds, three-tenths of a second better than the mark held by Pat Huffman of Ocean Falls Swimming Club.

Diefenbaker Turns Tap On Gas Hopes

TORONTO (CP) — Pipeline and natural gas stocks listed on the stock market were knocked down with a one-two punch Thursday — profit-taking and a news story from Ottawa.

The selling for profit made its appearance at the opening whistle, pushing many of the stocks which had recorded gains in the previous six sessions to the downside. Since pipeline, oil and natural gas stocks were the big winners in the advance, they were the heaviest hit by profit-taking.

Just before noon Prime Minister Diefenbaker indicated in the House at Ottawa that the government is not planning any early decision on whether to allow export of natural gas by Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Limited.

The result was a further drive downward by the earlier losers, led by Trans-Canada which closed with a 2¾ point loss at 23¼. Most of the other pipelines had losses around a point.

Pipelines Sag

MONTREAL (CP) — The Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges were mixed at the close Thursday.

Pipelines were down. Trans-Canada dropped 2⅝ to 23¼. Interprovincial ⅜ to 39¾ and Quebec Natural Gas 1½ to 22½. McColl Oil gained a point at 52 and Imperial Oil slipped ⅜ to 40¼ in a mixed refining oil group.

Gypsum Lime, sole mover in the construction group, advanced 1¾ to 28.

Industrial Acceptance rose a point to 27 and Dominion Stores ½ to 53½.

Newsprints were fractionally lower, Howard Smith lost ¾ at 25½. Banks and base metals were mixed.

Producing mines were generally higher.

Producing western oils were lower. Home Oil A declined a point to 15½ and Home Oil B ⅜ to 15. Penny stocks were mixed. Bateman Bay lost 2 cents at 16 and Partridge 3 cents at 19. Coulee added 22 cents at 60.

Not Impressed

NEW YORK (UP) — The stock market moved irregularly on volume little changed from the previous session.

Wall Street found nothing new to stimulate the market in President Eisenhower's address on the state of the Union. The President said nothing about a cash program which would involve vast sums for defence and stated he planned to present a balanced budget.

Aircrafts and missile makers ran up before the address and then backed away from their highs with some issues showing net losses late in the day. Bendix Aviation featured in strength with a 2½ point rise. General Dynamics, up a fraction, and North American aviation, down a shade, led in turnover.

Coppers retreated by a point or so on price cuts in the industry. Autos and Rails dipped.

Shipbuilding shares firmed on the president's statement he would seek more nuclear-powered submarines and cruisers.

Utilities managed to show a small net gain which carried their average to a new high since last July.

Tobaccos stood out as the strongest group on the board.

London Stock Prices

LONDON (AP) — A broad list of gains was made in British funds on the stock exchange. Canadian issues also were prominent but American stocks were mixed.

Industrials were quiet and tended lower. Hudson's Bay lost ground. There was small support for Japanese issues in an otherwise quiet foreign section.

Gold shares were lower under scattered selling and coppers were dull.

Grain Prices

WINNIPEG (CP) — Trading in all grains was quiet on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Some activity appeared in flax but trade was not as broad as in recent sessions. International interests and export accounts were buyers.

Selling by commission houses and American sources was evident. Prices were irregular and showed hesitation at times.

Oats and barley dealings were thin on a few domestic orders.

Rye remained steady but was erratic at times. Offerings were on the light side.

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures prices reacted fairly broadly at times on the board of trade as varying influences hit the pits.

After initial commercial purchase orders were absorbed, prices became sensitive to export business in wheat but moved within narrow ranges for the most part.

B.C. Stocks Mixed

VANCOUVER — Crown Zellerbach Canada at $15 added 50 cents to lead a fairly strong industrial section, although B.C. Forest Products lost part of recent gains at $9.50.

Some oils lost ground but losses were small. Vantor at 1.30 and Medallion at 2.30 were the most active in the section.

Silver Standard firmed to 14½ cents in a little changed mining list. Bralorne was off 10 cents at 4.50. Coppers shaded.

MLAs Back Farmers In Milk Price Battle

NANAIMO — Nearly 200 people attended a public hearing of the B.C. milk board in Nanaimo yesterday and about three-quarters of them were irate milk producers protesting strongly against the proposed [illegible] tial in price between fluid milk on the mainland and Vancouver Island.

Victoria distributors, represented by F. H. A. Norton, contended that unless this differential were removed it was impossible for them to compete with mainland milk coming on to the Victoria market in cartons. Additional price they are compelled to pay Island milk producers places them at an unfair disadvantage, they claimed.

Vancouver Island Dairyman Association submitted a lengthy brief read by William Adrian, secretary - manager of VIDA showing how impossible it was for dairymen to finance with any less returns than they are now receiving.

He received unexpected support from two widely differing [illegible] Jean Tisdalle, Social Credit MLA for Saanich, and Robert Strachan, leader of the CCF party. Mr. Tisdalle attacked the Victoria distributors for inefficient handling of their merchandising problems, particularly with regard to the sale of pasteurized milk.

'BE MORE REALISTIC'

He asked them to be more realistic and to meet mainland competition with economic promotional methods. If necessary, they should amalgamate, he said.

Mr. Strachan came up with an entirely new solution, which was greeted with cheers by some and stunned silence by the rest. He said that no lessening of price to any farmer should take place and that the only way to make the competition even was to raise the producer price of milk to all mainland farmers by 71 cents. He said that Vancouver Island farmers needed every penny they could get and he did not object to the men in the Fraser Valley getting a little extra.

PROCESS IT HERE

Tom Tryon, Parksville, advocated a ruling which would make it necessary for all milk sold on the Island to be processed here. Joe Fall, Cobble Hill, showed that his income for 1956 was $28 a month on a total sale of $17,039 worth of milk.

Mr. Parkin, Commox Co-Op, felt that the arguments did not apply to his area as there was no mainland milk sold there.

S. Dougan, manager of Dougan Holdings Ltd., Cobble Hill, showed a net loss in the past year of $746 on an overall return of $17,843.

NO CUT JUSTIFIED

A. Dewitt, Chemainus retailer, said that present prices did not allow him to clothe his children nearly as well as the mill workers in the same town. No reduction could be justified, he said.

William Taylor, Saanichton, said that the last cut of 27 cents a hundred pounds of milk cost him $2,000 a year and that this cut of 71 cents a hundred would force half the dairymen on the Island out of business.

Mrs. Edith Mills, Canadian Association of Consumers, said that she appreciated the cheaper milk in cartons, but would rather accept a small increase in price than see the Island farmers sold out.

E. C. Carr presided over the four-hour hearing, but no decisions were handed down. All speakers were tape-recorded and the three-man board will deliberate further. John Honeyman, Ladner producer, and Dr. Walton Anderson, UBC economist, other board members, were present. Representatives were on hand from the Nanaimo city council, from B.C. department of agriculture and from rural municipalities.

Youth Escapes with Warning

Killing 'Action of Fool'

COURTENAY (CP) — Magistrate John Ryland dismissed a charge of criminal negligence against an 18-year-old Courtenay youth Thursday in the shooting of an elderly garbage dump watchman last Oct. 13.

Frank Plowright, 69, died from a severed spinal cord two [illegible] allegedly fired "six or seven shots into an old shack while target practising with two friends. The youths heard groans and discovered the elderly man, who had been eating his lunch inside the hut.

"Your action of shooting at this hut without finding out if anyone was in it was the action of a fool and a thoughtless fool at that, but I do not find sufficient evidence to commit you for trial," Magistrate Ryland said at the end of Harris' preliminary hearing.

"I hope the lesson will be borne in mind by yourself and the remainder of the community," the magistrate added.

RCMP testified the hut could not be mistaken for a dwelling "by the widest stretch of the imagination," and Harris' companions said it was nearly five minutes after firing preliminary shots at stumps before Harris began firing at the hut 85 feet away.

They had heard and seen no evidence of the watchman and had no knowledge a watchman had been placed on duty at the dump, they said.

Pearkes to Speak On NATO Meetings

Defence Minister George R. Pearkes will speak to the Canadian Club Monday on "NATO Meetings in Paris."

The luncheon meeting begins at 12.15 p.m. in the Empress Hotel ballroom.

Tofino Base Goes Lock, Stock, Sinks

VANCOUVER (CP) — The complete RCAF base and radar station at Tofino, down to the kitchen sinks, is being moved out by a single aircraft in an operation that will reduce the air base to a ghost of its Second World War effectiveness.

A DC-4 chartered from Pacific Western Airlines carried out the first load of equipment Wednesday. The airline estimates the plane will need to make 10 flights to Vancouver, three to Edmonton and one to Cold Lake, Alta., to haul out the 127 tons of equipment at the base.

Tofino, on the western coast of Vancouver Island, was built at the outset of the Second World War as a defensive base against the possibility of a Japanese invasion. After the war it became part of the Pine Tree radar line across southern Canada.

It retires officially today from military duty.

Its two-story barracks, messhalls, hangars and maintenance buildings will be left to the interminable rain and bleak winds sweeping in from the Pacific Ocean.

A skeleton staff of department of transport personnel will take up year-round residence at the base to man the control tower for the 4,000-foot airstrip.

Municipal Act Changes Asked

Victoria Labor Council Wednesday night called for two amendments to the Municipal Act concerning municipal elections.

On motion of laborers' delegate Percy Rayment, council passed resolutions asking that persons eliminated in error from the voters' list be allowed to make a statutory declaration that they are eligible to do so and then vote; and that tennant electors and resident electors be allowed to register from Jan. 1 to Sept. 30.

HOW DO YOU DOODLE?

Give almost anybody a fresh restaurant tablecloth or a telephone pad — and you end up with a bunch of doodles. It's a universal habit — and this week Helen King, authority on graphology, explains some of the connections between the weird wanderings of the doodler's pencil and his personality. It's an article you'll enjoy reading!

MODERN theories of space science hold that planets other than earth may support intelligent life. They even predict from known scientific data what these "invaders from space" will look like. The factual possibilities of contact with "men" from other worlds are reported this week in The Star Weekly by Willy Ley, one of the country's foremost authorities on space science.

CONTROVERSIAL NIXON: Few men on the U.S. political scene have caused more controversy than their vice-president . . . This week read Carol Kirkpatrick's comprehensive study of Richard M. Wheels of Industry Start Turning Again

'My Bike Not Like This'

Police are warning all bicycle riders, especially juveniles, to be sure their wheels carry proper lights for after-dark riding. Kazyte Vaarbiers, aged 12, of 1901 Hillcrest, assures Const. John Ellis that her own bike makes one pedaled carries proper lights front and back. Policeman checks spokes with daylight or traffic-darkened lanes to street and highways. A LOVELIER YOU

By Mary Sue Miller

SHORTCUT TO HOUSEWORK As a helper around the house try salt ordinary kitchen salt. It lends a hand with many pesky chores and so saves your energy—the stuff loveliness is made of.

Here are a few of salt's helping ways:

Cover grease spots on bottom of oven with salt while heat is still on. They come off when dried with a whisk of a stiff brush.

To prevent grease and odors from collecting in the kitchen sink drain occasionally pour in strong hot salt brine.

Rough spots on an iron disappear when rubbed on a bed of salt.

A thin paste of salt and salad oil removes marks on furniture made by hot dishes. Let stand at least a half hour and wax entire surface.

For cleaning marble use equal parts of salt and powdered pumice mixed with water to form a paste.

Stained vases and bottles respond to a solution of salt and vinegar. Let stand overnight, shake vigorously and wash.

To bleach discolored, white china soak in salt and household ammonia.

Argentina and Portugal are both excellent customers for French films because they like the scenes of pretty girls in almost no clothing. Some French producers film special scenes for showings of their movies just for these two markets. But serious French directors are complaining. Because they include no nudity in their films Egyptian theatre managers now stop them films at dramatic points to show pictures of their own, nudes.

Glamor Headdress

Headdress—Down through the ages, both men and women have used a variety of decorative ornaments and coverings for the hair from horns to ribbon bows and veils. Today, the fashion of the moment [illegible] sweeps the hair [illegible] up for use with a matching jewelled [illegible] for evening wear. There are the famed jewelled combs and tiaras, of course, but it's the girl who wants a glamorous [illegible] at moderate cost [illegible] rhinestones and pearls seem adequate. More wearable perhaps are the clever [illegible] bands and ribbons. Evening gowns [illegible] to the color of your hair. Wigs cover the hair completely. Others to fur and flowers hide your chignon.

What's Cooking!

Cottage Cheese Good With Fruit

By FRANCES THOMPSON

Cooking Mr. A. M. M. K. . . . Dear Sir: Your letter re cottage cheese has only just come to light but it was all your fault. [illegible] to [illegible] consequence it was found at the bottom of the pile. Anyway for the sake of other readers I'm going to quote your letter in part [illegible] and compliments. Being extremely fond of cottage cheese I have often thought I would like to make my own. As I have to watch my waistline and can only obtain the creamed variety in Victoria, have you a recipe for it?"

The answer is yes—here goes . . .

COTTAGE CHEESE

One quart milk makes about 1 cup cottage cheese. Use sour milk (skim or whole or use buttermilk). Heat slowly over hot water until lukewarm. Don't let stand in a warm place but curds begin to congulate. Turn it into a cheese cloth and suspend to drain thoroughly, preferably overnight. Test when all whey is removed by sour taste. I was about to say moisten with cream or butter but on account of your waistline I won't.

At this stage of the game an expert cook [illegible] with this idea. I have not tried it but I'm going to quote . . .

"To make cottage cheese [illegible] sweet milk [illegible] warm. Then stir in a rennet [illegible]

You know the slight tartness of cottage cheese lends a zest to the appetite and its [illegible] ing whiteness can be [illegible] many a dish. For instance, all fruits blend with cottage cheese as do many vegetables. Here are some examples . . .

COTTAGE CHEESE FRUIT SALAD
(about 6 servings)

[illegible] and a half tablespoons gelatine, ½ cup cold water, 1 cup sweetened syrup from canned fruit, ½ cup of sweetened [illegible] 1 cup pineapple cubes, 1 cup cottage cheese, ½ cup thick cream, 2 cups [illegible] pineapple, [illegible]

Soften gelatine in cold water for a few minutes. Bring the fruit syrup, vinegar and cloves to boiling point and boil for a couple of minutes. Remove cloves. Add the softened gelatine and stir until dissolved. Add green coloring and chill over [illegible] set. Meanwhile blend cottage cheese with mayonnaise and add this to the partially set gelatine mixture. Beat with rotary or electric beater till [illegible] and fluffy. Fold in your chosen fruit (we used canned pears and [illegible] and [illegible] Arrange slices of cottage cheese [illegible] lettuce leaves. Spread [illegible] mayonnaise [illegible] of cottage cheese and [illegible]

HONEY CHEESE PIE

Two eggs, beaten, 1 cup cottage cheese, ½ cup of thick [illegible] abouts, honey; juice and rind of [illegible] lemon.

I was about to say rub the cottage cheese through a sieve until fine. But why bother? I think I prefer it lumpy. Add to the beaten eggs and mix very well. Then beat in the [illegible] lemon rind and juice. Pour into an unbaked pie shell and sprinkle with a topping of [illegible] graham cracker crumbs mixed with 1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine, and 1 tablespoon sugar. Bake in moderate oven about 35 minutes.

Say, did you people read that article the other day about sprinkling an uncooked pie shell with flour?

My answer to that is "Nuts." After many years of experience I find the only way to prevent a pie filling from seeping up the pastry is to brush some white of egg [illegible]

Garden Notes

Soon Be Daffodil Time

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

It is hard to realize that we are already past the winter solstice, that every day brings a few more minutes of daylight than the day before and that each day the morning sun is a little higher in the sky. It will be no time at all before the daffodils we planted last fall will be showing their heads in golden splendor.

White daffs probably better than any other flower can be left to look after themselves with every hope of success those of us who have their welfare at heart can still give them an assist in the form of a few special little attentions.

This extra care may not show up as bigger and better flowers this coming spring, but we have to remember that the daffodil is not a flower of a single year only. Generous treatment now will help the bulbs fatten up and if left to prosper, and in due course they will increase in size and number.

The fertilizer most appreciated by all members of the narcissus family, to give it its correct botanical name, and the ideal form for bulbs is bone meal, a safe slow-acting long-lasting form of phosphate which stimulates good root action and makes for substantial, weatherproof flowers. Bone meal contains a little nitrogen too, just about the right amount for daffs, and no further chemical nitrogen is necessary or desireable.

Bone meal is organic in origin and because it yields up its nutrients so [illegible] there is little danger of overdose. I know some commercial growers who feed their daffs with chemical sulphate of potash, chiefly because it costs less per unit of food than bone meal and the resultant flowers were excellent in every way. I hesitate to recommend it for amateur home use, though as the dosage is much more critical and there is always some danger that the fertilizer you buy will contain muriate of potash rather than the sulphate form. The muriate kind is bad medicine for daffs, roses and potatoes.

All bulbs seem to prefer a loose, friable loam, so it is a good idea to get busy with the hofork now as soon as the leaf tips are well above ground. Scuffle off the weeds first, then scatter bone meal at the rate of 1½ ozs. per square yard and stir it gently into the top two inches of soil with the hoe or handfork.

The one application of bone meal will do for the whole season, but the stirring of the topsoil should continue at intervals right through the year, especially after rain has raked the surface [illegible].

[illegible] bloom should be cut off before it starts to seed but the full length of stem and all the leaves must be allowed to remain to die down naturally. The green parts of the plant are the organs which plump up the bulb for next year's performance and any premature tidying-up will weaken next year's display of bloom.

It is good practice too after the blooms are finished to pull a little earth up around each plant with the hoe just as you would earth up potatoes. The extra support lessens the leaves from breaking off prematurely and the added coat thickens the earth over the bulbs, discourages the naturalists fly the pest responsible for narcissus fly [illegible].

Man May Do Just That

Opening lead ♣ J

North has only six points to start if South has opened a maximum. Despite meeting [illegible] they will be a couple of point short of game and re[illegible] requirements. Consequently North has a clear-cut pass.

West opened the [illegible] of spades. East won with the ace and returned the queen which South allowed to win. South [illegible] to set up [illegible] the most aggressive one [illegible] ing a bear. Declarer [illegible] this to run to dummy's jack and seized the occasion to run the jack of clubs.

While declarer was busy [illegible] heart trick. West [illegible] hearts and then [illegible] spade [illegible] that South could [illegible] a couple of tricks in hearts and [illegible] and if [illegible] West [illegible] the defenders could [illegible] for [illegible] jack [illegible] and [illegible] clubs. TV—TALK

By Bruce Lowther

Some of the more popular shows may vanish from Greater Victoria screens during the next six weeks as CBS moves from KTNT-TV, Tacoma, channel 11, to KIRO - TV, Seattle, channel 7.

Channel 11 had the CBS contract for western Washington until CBS radio station KIRO won channel 7 last fall. CBS has ruled that channel 7 must take its programs on Feb. 8, so, channel 11 will become an independent station on that date.

To prevent a complete turnover of shows in one day, channel 11 will begin gradual replacement of CBS shows next week. Meantime, channel 7 has met a delay in antenna construction and may not start test pattern until just before Feb. 8. Even then, it may have to broadcast on a temporary antenna for a few weeks.

"Hurry and get it fixed if you don't want to miss 'SHOCK!'"

The channel change will affect CBS shows not seen on CBC, such as Gunsmoke, Playhouse 90, Lineup Red Skelton, What's My Line and Leave It To Beaver. Some will be dropped early by channel 11 and all may not be seen for a week or two if the original channel 7 signal is from a temporary antenna and not strong enough to reach here.

* * *

TV BITS: B.C. Round Table and one movie "Outcast of the Islands," are the only major items today . . . First replacement of CBS shows on channel 11 comes next week when Cisco Kid is seen at 6:30 p.m. week days. That means no more Leave It To Beaver. Name That Tune and Robin Hood for a while . . . The British equivalent of the $64,000 Question (it goes up to 512,000 shillings) is being dropped as the commercial TV network because its ratings have fallen by 20 per cent. Top prize was 1,280,000 shillings . . . The last Seven Lively Arts show, Feb. 16, will feature a new ballet, "Gold Rush" to music of Lerner and Loewe, the "My Fair Lady" authors.

Speaking of Seven Lively Arts its "Nutcracker" ballet will be repeated by channel 12 Sunday. Circle Theatre will do a show on flying saucers Jan. 22 . . . Richard Widmark will [illegible] the Tom Ewell role in the movie version of the Broadway comedy "Tunnel of Love" . . . A new movie of "Jekyll and Hyde" is in the works . . . TV series may be made from the radio shows One Man's Family and Fat Man . . . There's talk that still another new cast may be chosen for Hit Parade next season . . . As for radio CKDA revamps its schedule Monday, dropping Kiddie Kapers, Tele-Opinion and Barn Dance and shifting Norm Pringle, Tippy O'Neill Music Memories, House Party and Top 100 to new times.

The "NEW" HEATING IDEA!

That Assures You Comfortable Warmth in the Coldest Weather

'EVEN-TEMP' "IN-A-WALL" OR "IN-A-FLOOR" FURNACE

Automatic Oil-fired Forced Circulation FOR NEW OR OLD HOMES

An Even-Temp circulating warm air heating system conserves valuable floor space, requires no furnace room and eliminates costly duct work. Installation is remarkably simple and economical. Even the cost of a separate chimney may be saved by combining the flue with fireplace stack.

If You're in Debt, You're Normal

Case of Keeping Up with Joneses

'Our Wives Are to Blame for Most of Our Debts'

This is the third in a series on You and Your Debt

By PETER BRETON

"Our wives are to blame for most of the debts we owe" said the well dressed man sitting at the bar. "It's strictly a case of trying to keep up with the Joneses.

And as always the Joneses appear to live pretty high off the proverbial hog.

He said he made between $9000 and $10,000 a year at his profession a statement that caused a seedy looking individual who had been eavesdropping to cough in his beer.

"There you are" continued the [illegible] think money is no problem with me they think I'm rolling in it. Especially when they see the house we have and that we get a new car every couple of years. Well I've got another 14 payments to make on my present car and there's years and years to go before I can say I own the house.

There was only one good thing that came with a big income he said. It paved the way to get bigger bank loans.

[illegible] said the professional man. Everything would be all right I think if it wasn't for my wife wanting to go one better than all her friends. We've got all the modern gadgets in our house and it's pretty well furnished. But let one of her woman friends get something new and we have to go one better.

We had a big refrigerator bigger than we needed but it was five or six years old he continued. "One of my wife's friends got a new fridge so what happened? We had to get a new one also we didn't need it but we had to keep up with the Joneses.

During the past year or so he said the same thing had happened with an automatic washing machine and dryer carpets and a large chesterfield suite.

When I started out in business for myself my wife made all her own clothes as well as those for the kids he said. "They were darn good as a matter of fact.

The social life with [illegible] the professional mates posed a problem to the community has changed all that.

"Now she has to have all her dresses bought and they can't be just dresses they have to be [illegible] right cars. Two cars. We've got the other [illegible] the rocking pants with [illegible].

As I said it's [illegible] of living to keep up with the Joneses when in fact we [illegible] as good as [illegible] head above water but what happens if there's a snowball [illegible] want to know.

Friend May Lose Leg

Man Killed By City Car Up-Island

One man was killed and another seriously injured near Duncan last night when struck by a car driven by a 25-year-old Victoria man.

Killed was William Thomas, 35, a resident of the Clem Clemaluts Indian Reserve, Duncan.

His companion, Benedict Joe, 30, sustained a badly broken leg and lacerations to the scalp and face. It is possible that the injured leg will be amputated.

DRIVER UNHURT

Driver of the car, Demetrios Lachmaner, 110 Government, was uninjured.

And at almost the same time six miles north of Duncan two sailors from Victoria were injured when their car jumped a culvert, left the road, ran 50 feet down an embankment and came to rest on E & N railway tracks.

Thomas, the father of four children, the oldest nine years, and Joe were apparently carrying a bag of fruit along the highway near the Kensdale bridge about two miles south of Duncan.

ON WAY HOME

Lachmaner, who works at Honeymoon Bay, five days a week was returning to Victoria where his wife lives.

King's Daughters' Hospital in Duncan reported late last night that it might be necessary to amputate Joe's injured leg.

The two sailors, John Forgie and E. Holman, members of the crew of HMCS Cayuga, sustained serious, but not critical injuries. They were taken to Chemainus General Hospital.

One of the men was thrown out of the runaway car when it careened down the railway embankment. Clothes and personal belongings were scattered along the route taken by the car.

MOVED BY SPEEDER

The embankment was too steep for rescue workers to carry the two injured men to the roadway. They were moved two miles on a railway speeder, then transferred to an ambulance.

A-Bombs Over Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — American planes occasionally transport nuclear weapons over Canadian territory, Defence Minister Pearkes informed the Commons Friday.

He said each such flight must be approved by the defence minister and added:

"Every precaution has been taken to see that they the nuclear bombs are inactivated and that there is no danger to Canadian lives or property.

The minister said the planes on occasion transport nuclear weapons. He added that in the public interest it would be undesirable to draw a distinction between atomic and hydrogen bombs.

Every particular case makes application for the flight, he said.

Scholarships For Everyone

TORONTO (CP) — The National Federation of Canadian University Students wants the introduction of 10,000 scholarships of $550 on the principle that one should be available to any student who satisfies university entrance requirements.

The federation said Friday it will submit a brief to every provincial government urging consideration of the suggestion. Money would come from an increase in federal-provincial bursaries.

MP Flays RCMP Tactics

Canadians Probed For Foreign Power

'Political Babes' Talk to Suspect

COLIN CAMERON
. . . feared investigated

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCMP's anti-subversive branch came under sharp Commons fire Friday as CCF members criticized its methods of investigation and practice of passing on information to foreign security agencies.

Colin Cameron (CCF Nanaimo) said two RCMP officers who investigated the background of a friend of his suspected of Communist affiliation were political and ideological innocents . . . babes in arms . . . incapable of assessing if there were Communist affiliation.

TO BE TIGHTENED

Justice Minister Davie Fulton promised to see what he could do to tighten up investigation methods so they would not embarass or cause suffering.

Mr. Cameron said his friend whom he identified as [illegible] farmer, agent in the 1945 general election, learned of the RCMP file when he asked his employer for time off to attend a convention in the United States of an international organization in South America to which he belonged.

ORDER CHANGED

He said his friend was advised that he would not be permitted to cross the U.S. border but after Mr. Cameron had a talk with RCMP commissioner L. H. Nicholson he was able to go to the U.S. for the convention. It was an [illegible] situation.

Mr. Cameron said the file was made by the RCMP at the request of the U.S. Federal Bureau of Investigation. He asked whether it is RCMP practice to investigate the background of Canadians at the request of a foreign power.

THE NORMAN CASE

Mr. Fulton said there could be no repetition of the Norman case under the Conservative government.

He said there had been no fundamental changes under the [illegible] Conservatives but they [illegible] learned from experience [illegible] and [illegible] that such a series of incidents would not take place again.

Encouraging Progress

AN appeal is being made to this community now on behalf of the University of British Columbia's drive for $7,500,00 which the Province has undertaken to match dollar for dollar. Although the campaign at Point Grey was only recently opened trustees of the fund already have $4,000,000 in hand from early contributions and advance personal gifts. That is an excellent start, and a good augury for the success of this ambitious effort. The total needs of the UBC with respect to capital outlays and other essential improvements have been placed at $15,000,000. If half of this sum can be covered by voluntary subscription the University will be placed in position with the British Columbia guarantee to go ahead with its program.

Quite apart from Victoria's desire for a full [illegible] College, and its determination eventually to have one the UBC's spirited program of action and self help must command the respect of everyone who has the interest of higher education at heart. For a long time Canadian universities have been asked to get on with raising much of their [illegible] with less than acknowledgment of their [illegible] duty to do so. Their [illegible] trusts and endowments in some instances have proved inadequate, while direct government help under either provincial or federal auspices has been more lagging than forthcoming with regard to the current needs. At the same time from the universities is expected an ever larger output of trained young men and women.

Both east and west in Canada this underlying situation had to come to a showdown. The withdrawal of post-graduate federal aid to war service personnel precipitated one crisis. The heavier enrollment of high school graduates in a rapidly expanding national population has now produced another. Not only to maintain their standards but even to remain in existence Canadian universities have had to appeal to wider circles for a more realistic volume of support. That is the underlying reason for the UBC drive. With some $7,000,000 in hand the UBC still needs approximately $8,000,000 to reach its immediate objective. It is probable that the large personal and industrial gifts have already been completed. It is upon individual participation by the public to the total now will be an important one. The purpose is one benefiting every citizen of B.

They Funked Their Duty

REPORTS from Ottawa suggest that after the Liberals elect a new leader they will turn a new parliamentary leaf. It is high time for there has been an ignominious role this session. Because they feared another election while nursing their wounds from last June they abdicated their parliamentary duty as the opposition group. They chose instead to oppose votes but vote tamely for government measures. They put the concept of their convictions behind a curtain of expediency.

Now they will attempt to be firm again. By this time next week probably either Mr. Pearson or Mr. Martin will have been chosen as the new Liberal leader. Both are reported to be ready to defeat the Diefenbaker government in the House at the earliest opportunity. They may not have long to wait. The initiative is not necessarily theirs and Mr. Diefenbaker who would welcome another test at the polls may have his own ideas on the subject.

By continuing with the CCF on a vote of non-confidence on a government measure of importance the Liberals can outvote the government and thus force a general election. This has been possible all session. Because it did not suit their party purposes, however, the Liberals adopted a supine role foolishly critical but timid when challenged to back their words with action.

Another election is needed to give the Diefenbaker government the stronger mandate that will enable it to carry out its program. That it is most likely to get. There should be no mistake about the Liberals' position however. They have put party before country. They have not been concerned with the national interest, but with their own. They have funked their parliamentary duty because they were afraid of the consequence. The public will not be deceived. If the Liberals deserved to be defeated last June, as they did they deserve twice over to be rejected again. They have forfeited respect and confidence in their political integrity.

Indistinct Licence Plates

RECENT complaints in Victoria that British Columbia's special motor vehicle licence plates to mark the 1958 centenary are difficult to read appear to be well founded. Observation confirms a statement by the police that the light green numerals and words are indistinct against the pale background at any distance beyond a few yards due to the contrast in color being disappointingly low. Viewed broadside, the license numbers are hard enough to distinguish, viewed obliquely they are virtually indecipherable even at close quarters. Because of the defect the license plates are of much diminished usefulness to the police as a means of identifying moving vehicles which is one of the main purposes of having a system of numbers.

The damage has been done and probably it is too late to repair it since large numbers of plates already have been issued. But one is left wondering how on earth the authorities came to select such an unsuitable combination of colors. Is it possible that before ordering the multi-odd plates required these responsible neglected to submit the color scheme to tests for visibility at varying distances and from different angles? If tests were made it is astonishing that anyone could have been blind enough to approve.

Rather than risk the apparent poor judgment in a serious matter by the police for the next 12 months it is going to be infinitely more difficult for them to detect stolen cars or get the numbers of those breaking the speed limits.

Island Editors Say

Industrial Cold War

Both labor and management must share the blame for any dispute [illegible] differences have to be settled. What cause [illegible] people working [illegible] when neither side will admit the decision handed down? Why does management [illegible] offer pay raises [illegible] are willing to pay? And why [illegible] unions [illegible] and more than they are willing to settle for.

This bickering for position [illegible] with the lives of people and [illegible] to be avoided if the rank and file [illegible] up on the heads of their leaders.

—CAMPBELL RIVER COURIER

Who Benefits?

For how long we wonder, will the striking pulp and paper workers be able to get their union principles against the high [illegible] of living they have enjoyed?

Surely by this time they must realize that even if they were to get the demanded 12 per cent increase it would be years before the rise would offset the money they are not through striking.

If a true figure for a prolonged strike could be found it would [illegible] argument against him. But we feel that in the end the pulp and paper strike [illegible] fighting against himself.

Welcome Forest News

As more of forested B.C. moves up a pulp economy it is heartening to learn that a measure of success is already being enjoyed by experimenters working to produce stronger trees more quickly.

The program being undertaken by B.C. Forest Service at its Duncan nursery using seed and twigs of trees of good quality from its experimental station at Mesachie Lake, a the first plan of its kind in the province, [illegible] a commanding new height if the [illegible] hopes. It can prove the cornerstone of the forest economy of the future.

Open Up the North

We hope all appropriate community bodies will join in pressing the provincial and federal governments to give immediate favorable consideration to the idea of building the north island highway.

A suitable highway not only would give north island points a faster link with the remainder of B.C. but the entire middle and upper island would benefit from the [illegible] that could be provided by new market. Ultimately the increased tourist and industrial development to the north of us would have far-reaching benefits for everyone.

—COURTENAY ARGUS

Sidney Sidetracked

The postal department in Ottawa ruled long ago that a major increase in floor space at Sidney's post office is a vital necessity. Surely the department of public works can move rapidly now to solve this major bottleneck to North Saanich development.

For years the post office development has been promised in Sidney. But to date not one nail has been driven for one form [illegible] That's why it is so discouraging to read in the excellent Cowichan Leader that tenders are being called to have a house removed at the corner of Ingram and Jubilee on the site to be used for the new Duncan post office. No starting date has been set for construction of the new building. We wish the good people of Duncan every success but sincerely hope that Sidney's postal development will precede that in our neighboring community.

Carting Garbage No Job for Lady

BASINGSTOKE, Eng. — Lady Patience Guinness has won her long fight with Basingstoke Corporation. She refused to empty her garbage can since last September.

The council insisted. It asked for a court order. The magistrate, he ruled, could not force a woman to empty her own garbage can. Other local residents have theirs dumped once a week.

The Guinness garbage can reposes at the far end of a driveway 70 yards long. The garbage man objected to walking that far and insisted Lady Patience carry the can to the street entrance.

Her neighbors, Viscount Lord Dorchester and Sir Claude Gidney, are both members of the council.

You cannot expect a lady to carry the refuse to the bottom of her drive, Lord Dorchester commented.

Old Tune, New Words

How we find new words for old ideas. Sociologists tell us effective groups must have "sticktivity," stick together in common aims, "hedonic tone" (pleasure in working together) and "esprit," calling harmonious functioning. An effective group must have surgency, be a homogeneous dynamo.

Isn't this exactly what Christianity claims to give: confident personality and creative fellowship? "Born again," said Jesus, "you need not perish." "We are transformed—a new man," said Paul. Christ's gift was "power to become," said John. The early Christians called themselves "sons of God."

Kings and Priests to God. They described their community as a body, in which each participated his gift for the common good, without the clash of race or class, weaknesses and jealousies.

Gunnar Leads Late Gains In Uraniums

TORONTO (CP)—The stock market in general settled [illegible] last going counted gains in all sections topped the trend and closed with moderate gains.

Trading in the last half hour was heavy, particularly among uraniums which spurted ahead.

Gunnar led the uranium advances and Denison and Algom had fractional advances. The low-priced stocks set by Pronto moved up in a solid line.

Industrials were lower on index but they rallied slightly from mid-afternoon to the close.

Western oils drifted off with Bailey Selburn losing a 5-cent loss at $6.10. Canadian Atlantic and Central Del Rio had moderate dips. Mines with the exception of uraniums were mixed to lower.

Aluminum Weakens

MONTREAL (CP) — The Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges moved lower on light trading.

Price Mountain dropped 2½ to 9½. Refining oils were down. McColl dipped a point to 51 and Imperial Oil ½ to 58. Most base metals were lower. Aluminium lost 1¼ at 37.

Banks and steels were mixed. Bank of Montreal gained a half point and steel of Canada declined ¼ to 16. Newsprints and most industrial issues were shaded and utilities were mixed to [illegible].

Producing metals showed [illegible] movement. Coniagas advanced 12¢ to 15¢, and Opemiska Copper lost 15 cents at 6.45.

Producing western oils showed Pacific Petroleums with a gain of ¼ at 18, and Central Del Rio with a gain of 25 cents at 8.70.

Wall St. Unhappy

NEW YORK (CP) — Stocks plunged further with traders 12 per cent under Thursday's volume.

The drop according to market experts reflected President Eisenhower's address on the state of the Union which was a disappointment to those who had anticipated a wild spending splurge on an unbalanced budget.

Steel issues and metals again led the brunt of the selling. Most of the Aircraft-missile makers lost 1 to 2 points. Several split spots sweetened in the mix which are being priced at fractions. Specials retreated. Drugs had tough sledding with American Home Products down 1 at its low. Corning led the glass issues lower.

General Dynamics got a lift for a time on successful firing of the Vair for which the sub solar. Control is prime contractor. Philips Petroleum was sustained by news it and North American Aviation will form a rocket fuel company.

Chrysler off 1, and the motors near. Aluminium Limited, Magma Copper, Reynolds Metals and Olin Mathieson Co. were among the issues to set new lows, the last off more than 3 points.

Decline in Trade

VANCOUVER (CP) — Trading was light as prices inclined to drift lower.

Mackenzie Bi-charged heads Lighter, at 5½ but Rx Exeter Developing was off 30 cents at $4.

Columbian Copper attracted some interest at 31 cents among mines but Vacuum was lower in the oil list.

London Stock Prices

LONDON (CP) — The London stock market was generally dull but British Funds remained firm.

Most industrial leaders were lower. Oils were subdued with [illegible] Argus Newsfound land was dull.

U.S. Tariff Regretted

Forest Firm Airs Woes

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

Some of the woes of the B.C. forest industry were aired in annual general meeting of MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd.

"We are combing the world to [illegible] goods," said President Ralph M. Shaw. "It is noted with considerable regret that in spite of our huge imbalance of trade with the U.S. in their favor — we cannot get plywood in kraft papers over the tariff walls.

We sincerely hope the U.S. will reverse the drift into protectionism and realize how fortunate they are to [illegible] such a friendly, customer with good credit [illegible] right on their front doorstep.

MILLIKEN WELL TESTED

Oil from the Triassic zone gave an initial flow of 210 barrels a day through a 3/4-inch choke in the Pacific Petroleums Bay Milliken Creek 73-6, well in northern B.C.

The well is about 60 miles north and east of Fort St. John, and the discovery was made last spring. The tests however had to be postponed because of road bans to haul the heavy equipment out of the area before the thaw. The oil was struck 4,705 to 4,717 feet and [illegible] to test the area to the south and south.

Centenary Big Draw

Inquiries Swamp Publicity Bureau

Staff at Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau is toiling at mid-summer pitch to handle a sudden avalanche of inquiries about Victoria as a holiday and centennial celebrations in particular.

Sparking the early interest in Victoria holidays, commissioner George Warren explained, is the large number of coupon advertisements being carried by major Prairie newspapers.

Scores of coupons have been clipped by snowbound Prairie residents and mailed back to the bureau to find out more about this city's year-around temperate holiday climate.

Adding to the sudden demand are requests from Victorians and other Vancouver Island residents for an array of pamphlets and booklets about the centenary to be sent on to friends and relatives around the world.

One important pamphlet—the B.C. Centennial Committee's calendar of events for the entire province—has been "sold out" and the next issue won't be in until February, Mr. Warren said.

The new calendar will include Victoria's May celebrations and the 28th annual Empress Hotel Golf Tournament (April 14-19).

Two items omitted from the first printing.

"The interest is terrific," he said. "We're going like a house afire."

Koerner's Gift to UBC

$375,000 for Library

Walter C. Koerner, industrialist and philanthropist, has given $375,000 to build a new library wing at University of British Columbia.

The gift was announced in Vancouver yesterday by Paul E. Cooper, general chairman of the UBC development fund.

The university is already past the $4,000,000 mark in its drive for $7,500,000 toward urgently-needed buildings and equipment. The provincial government has promised to put up dollar for dollar up to that sum.

Neal Harlow, UBC librarian, said Mr. Koerner's donation will enable an immediate start on a new wing "to relieve the extreme congestion which hampers the use of the library by all members of the university."

Mr. Koerner has made gifts to the library before, and has also provided funds for scholarships and student loans.

Robert Burrows, formerly on the staff of UBC's extension department, now secretary-treasurer of a Seattle insurance company, has been lent by his firm to co-ordinate the Victoria end of the fund drive with headquarters in Vancouver.

He will spend part of each week in Seattle and part in Victoria. Local headquarters of the fund are on the second floor at 850 Gordon Street, telephone 5-8931.

A special committee will seek the support of Victoria doctors and dentists for the drive this month.

Waters to Lead Bakery Workers

Frank Waters was elected by acclamation to presidency of the Bakery and Confectionery Workers' International Union of America, Local 267, at its recent annual meeting.

Also elected were Joseph Hood, vice-president; Fred Litster, secretary-treasurer; Robert Leach, recording secretary; sergeant-at-arms, Leo Pedersen; and Joseph Hood, Norman Croswell, Mike Superle and Percy Budd, trustees.

Mr. Budd was also named delegate to the special international convention of the union to be held in Cincinnati in early March.

Canucks Extend Own, Cougar Streaks; Durham Leads Fan Delegation Tonight

Another bad second period last night at Vancouver was enough to send Victoria Cougars down to their fifth straight defeat, the Canucks winning handily, 4-1, in a hard-bumping game in which they outshot the trailing Islanders, 47-24.

Victory, fourth in a row for the Canucks and their 10th in the last 11 games, boosted them seven points ahead of Seattle Americans, who were overtime victims at Edmonton.

Winners of only two of their last 14 games, the Cougars host the New Westminster Royals tonight at Memorial Arena in another attempt to start a winning streak which might last long enough to bring them into contention for the last of the three playoff spots in the Western Division of the Western Hockey League.

Tonight's game will be featured by the appearance of Pete Durham, ex-Cougar defenceman who had his hockey career ended at Memorial Arena last season when playing for the Royals in a league game against the Cougars.

Also on hand will be an estimated 100 New Westminster fans, making the trip to lend support to their club in a new try to wrest first place from the speeding Canucks.

WESTERN DIVISION	GP	W	L	T	F	A	Pts
Vancouver	55	34	16	5	258	178	73
N. Westminster	59	31	18	10	220	175	72
Seattle	58	28	24	6	224	225	62
VICTORIA	58	9	46	3	166	350	21
EASTERN DIVISION
Winnipeg	55	34	14	7	226	168	75
Edmonton	56	30	18	8	234	191	68
Saskatoon	54	14	30	10	197	235	38
Calgary	56	13	39	4	161	320	30

Last night's scores: VICTORIA 1 at Vancouver 4; Seattle 2 at Edmonton 3 (overtime).

Next games tonight: New Westminster at VICTORIA; Seattle at Calgary (interdivisional); Winnipeg at St. Paul.

No word on the Cougar lineup was available last night but with no new player acquisitions announced yesterday, personnel will be the same, coach Pat Egan may again juggle his forward lines. Cougars have lost five in a row to Royals, with goalkeeper Bev Bentley the difference most of the time.

Canucks, who would have a victory skein of 11 straight but for the 5-0 shutout they absorbed here Dec. 28, were in control most of the time last night. They had 16 shots at Seattle Francis in the first period without success but clicked on four of 19 shots in the second period.

It was still a scoreless game when Bill Dobbyn drew a penalty early in the second period for roughing up Carl Kaiser but the Cougars lost their odd-man chance 38 seconds later when Egan got the third of his four penalties.

Fifteen seconds later, chunky Elliott Chorley, who has been hitting his best form in recent games, made a fine rush to [illegible] for the first goal of the game.

Three minutes later, rookie Orland Kurtenbach, who always does well against the Cougars, blasted in a 15-footer.

Penalty-killer Red Johansen took Hugh Currie's breakaway pass at 12.49 to make a Cougar power-play backfire and when rookie Bob Robinson beat the hard-working Francis in the last minute of the period, faint Cougar hopes of a comeback evaporated.

ONLY CONSOLATIONS

Canucks tried hard to give Marcel Pelletier his fifth shutout but Bud Syverson batted in the rebound off a shot by Egan less than two minutes from time.

It was the seventh time since he got his fourth shutout early in December that Pelletier had yielded only one goal. The ex-Cougar has given up only 21 goals in the last 11 games, 11 of them in three games against the Cougars—a 0-5 defeat and 5-3 and 4-3 victories. In the other eight games he has yielded but 10 goals, and that without a shutout.

Victoria—Goal, Francis; defence, Egan, Syverson, Bulloch, Kaiser, Raglan; forwards, Haworth, Milne, D. Kilburn, Wilson, C. Kilburn, Dobbyn, Macauley, Boyce, Babiuk.

Vancouver—Goal, Pelletier; defence, Mac Nab, Dobbyn, Folk, Currie, MacQueen; forwards, McLeod, Maloney, Johansen, Kurtenbach, Hutchinson, Powers, Chorley, Robinson.

Referee, Lloyd Gilmour; linesmen, Laurie Ludlow, Roy Hamlin.

Speaking Briefly

Rosburg After Bing's Money; Giants Deny Bid for Parker

Stocky Bob Rosburg, proving for the second straight day the golfing adage that you "drive for show and putt for dough," shot a five-under-par 67 yesterday for a 36-hole total of 132 and a five-stroke lead in the $50,000 Bing Crosby golf tournament at Pebble Beach, California.

Rosburg, who had a 65 over the Monterey Peninsula Country Club course Thursday, had only a little more trouble with the tougher Cypress Point layout yesterday and his putter was as deadly as ever. He had six birdies, three on putts of 15, 18 and 20 feet.

Moving into second place with 137 was Bill Casper, Jr., who turned in yesterday's lowest score, a 66. Tommy Bolt was third at 138.

Al Balding of Toronto shot a 69 to tie with six others at 140, while Stan Leonard, who soared to a 78 in the first round, had a 72 yesterday for 150.

* * *

Jackie Parker, outstanding player in Canadian football last season, said yesterday he may follow the lead of Frank Ivy and desert Edmonton Eskimos for the National Football League.

Parker said yesterday that he had received an offer from New York Giants. However, Giant president Jack O'Mara reported in New York yesterday that he knew of no offer made to Parker, and to his knowledge none would be made.

Under the special terms of his contract, Parker has until January 15 to sign with another club. If he is not signed by that date, he remains Edmonton property.

Meanwhile Frank Prochaska, who served under Ivy last season, is undecided whether or not to accept the position of head coach at Edmonton. He also has an offer to coach Saskatchewan Roughriders, and Ivy wants Prochaska to join him at Chicago as assistant coach.

SCORES TKO: Welterweight Charles "Tombstone" Smith made an impressive Eastern debut in New York last night, handing Joe Micell one of the worst beatings of his career for a seventh-round technical knockout in their nationally-televised bout . . . Directors of the National Hockey League have agreed to assist the Canadian National Exhibition in establishment of a hockey hall of fame at the CNE grounds in Toronto. NHL president Clarence Campbell announced last night.

Shown with two new trophies to be awarded for largest and second-largest steelhead caught in either Cowichan, Koksilah or Chemainus rivers is Lee Hallberg, chairman of the committee in charge. See story below.

Steelhead Competition Offers New Trophies

DUNCAN — Steelheaders who fish the Cowichan, Koksilah and Chemainus rivers can now compete for two handsome trophies as well as other prizes.

Sponsored jointly by the Commercial and Tzouhalem hotels in Duncan, a huge challenge trophy will be awarded annually to the angler who weighs in the largest steelhead taken from any of the three rivers.

In addition, Wright's Jewelers will give a trophy to the angler who weighs in the second largest steelhead.

The competition will start each winter on December 1 and end on the closest Sunday to March 15.

Other prizes to be awarded this winter are for the period to January 15 and for the periods between January 16 and 31, February 1 and 15 and February 16 and 28. Out-of-town entrants weighing in the largest steelhead during the above periods will receive two days of free lodging at one of the sponsoring hotels any time within a month of their entry.

Local anglers with the largest steelhead for the four periods will get a steak dinner for two.

A second competition is being sponsored by Bucky's Sports Shop. It's for boys 17 years of age and under and the winner will receive a trophy as well as a complete spinning outfit from the sponsor.

Weigh-in stations are the Commercial and Tzouhalem hotels and Bucky's Sports Shop. Trophies will be presented at a dinner on Saturday, March 22.

Rules are simple. No contestant can win more than one trophy. All contestants must produce their fishing licence when weighing in their fish, which must be taken with rod and reel. All decisions of the tackle and investigation committee will be final.

Chairman of the committe is Lee Hallberg. Other committee members are Red Moffat, Johnny Kirstuk, Mike Warbett and Bucky Kennett.

X-Final score not available.

Victoria High School Totems ran their victory streak to six games at Mount View High School last night with a 38-16 win over the Hornets as play resumed in the Inter-High School Senior Basketball League.

The win moved Porky Andrews' club into a first-place tie with Esquimalt Dockers, who were not scheduled last night.

CHECK WELL

Totems, gunning for another city title, cracked a tough Mount View zone defence while checking the Hornets to a standstill. Hornets were held to two points in the first and third quarters. Mike Soltice paced the Totems with 14 points.

In the preliminary game, Belmont downed St. Louis College, 30-20. At North Saanich High School, Oak Bay defeated University School, 43-23, as Wayne Farmer and Dick Sparks scored 10 points each.

Esquimalt Dockers edged the Esquimalt Grads, 44-22, and Esquimalt girls blanked St. Margaret's School, 47-0, in exhibition games at Esquimalt.

University School—Belay 7, Johnston, Wilson, Geis 5, Whitaker, Allen 9, Marwin 1, Smith 1, Laidlaw. Total—23.

BEHIND THE GLASS

By Jim Tang

SENSATIONAL FINISH: First perfect end in the six-year history of the Alberni Valley Curling Club was recorded on Thursday night in a story-book finish to a game between rinks skipped by Johnny Pickup and Bob Reid, club manager.

Pickup's rink was trailing, 6-12, after nine ends but turned almost-certain defeat into history-making victory with its spectacular finish.

According to reports, Pickup's rink had five rocks in a straight row and two 'biters' when the skips were down to one rock each. Reid slid through the house and Pickup drew in for the eighth counter.

Curling with Pickup were Ian MacGregor, Bert Laughlan and Ben Wright. Victimized along with Reid were Ross Sweeten, Harry Gaulet and Gordon Campbell.

* * *

END OF CARSPIEL?: Cancellation of the annual Edmonton carspiel, which would have been down to the final stages today had it been played, strongly indicates that the era of the carspiel in curling may be over. It is probable that Edmonton or some other club will again try to put on a carspiel but it is doubtful if it will have any success.

Edmonton had to call it off when the entry failed to go past 60 rinks although the entry deadline was extended 36 hours and all-out efforts were made to get the minimum of 75 rinks needed. Early in the season, Winnipeg's first carspiel had to be called off when only 40 rinks entered.

Officials at Edmonton felt that the big reason for the small entry was the mild Alberta weather which has prevented many rural curlers who depend on natural ice from getting in more than three or four games so far this season.

That, undoubtedly, was a factor but there are many other better reasons. First of all, there is so much at stake in a carspiel that it doesn't provide the fun to be had at the ever-increasing number of good club bonspiels. Carspiels are only for the really good curler and the well-heeled average curler who doesn't mind the expense for the chance to mingle with and play against the game's giants. The fact is that there just aren't enough of the above to any longer make a carspiel a success now that the novelty of the event has worn off and there are so many other good curling events to attend.

And it's just as well. It would be interesting, it's true, to take part in a carspiel but I can't help but agree with those who feel that big prizes spoil curling enjoyment and that the game will lose something if it becomes too professionalized.

BRIER TICKETS: Tickets for the Canadian curling championships are on sale only at the Victoria Curling Club, 1952 Quadra Street, and there are plenty of good seats left. As a matter of fact, less than 1,000 have been taken and Memorial Arena has seats for 5,033. Seats in the end sections are, of course, going fast but there are excellent seats on the sides and the "turn" sections.

Only books of tickets are on sale now. They give the purchaser a reserved seat for the 11 Brier draws and an exchange ticket which enables him to purchase the same seat in the event of a playoff game. Cost of a book of tickets is only $5, which amounts to a modest 45 cents a draw, and anyone contemplating seeing three or more draws would be well advised to get a book of tickets.

Single tickets will go on sale just before "Brier Week" and the price for single draws will be one dollar. A section is being set aside for students, who will be admitted for 50 cents a draw.

DOWN TO 10: With Alberni Valley and Victoria Curling Clubs still to decide their second rinks, there are still 10 rinks with a chance to play in the Vancouver Island (Zone 1) British Consols final, scheduled at Nanaimo next Saturday and the following Sunday. Duncan and Nanaimo have their champions ready.

As of last night, the Island Consols picture was:

Nanaimo—To be represented by rinks skipped by Brock Wilson and Don MacRae. Curling with Wilson are Barney Holm, Rudy Alexander and Ches Bentson. On MacRae's rink are Doug Neff, Art Quinney and Dave Dunn.

Duncan—To be represented by rinks skipped by Glen Harper and Tony Folk. Curling with Harper are Harvey Hodge, Gary Merrett and Vern Kaspick. On Folk's rink are Bill Thomas, Pat Ryan and Bill Wadsworth.

Alberni Valley—A rink skipped by Warren Paul has already qualified, rinks skipped by Harry Spottiswood and Bob Cummings play this weekend for the second berth. Bill Osborne, C. Hanson and Agnar Bergman are curling for Paul. On Spottiswood's rink are Bill Wood, Harry Stirzaker and George Martin, while Bob Reid, John Anderson and Gordon Campbell are with Cummings.

Victoria—Already qualified is a rink skipped by Tony Gutoski. Playing tonight for the second Victoria berth are rinks skipped by Gerry Walls and Wilkie Gardner. On Gutoski's rink are Bill Dunstan, Jr.; Gary Leibel and Dale Dalziel. On Wall's rink are Norm Beattie, Jack Allison and Dave Stewart while Gardner calls the shots for Jack English and Dick and Don Fisher.

Picking a winner from the Island final is a tough chore with any of a half dozen rinks appearing quite capable. Putting both of them on the spot, the guess here is that it could be Gutoski or Harper but to keep an eye on MacRae.

Flyers Get Points Before 6,096 Fans

EDMONTON—Guyle Fielder and Seattle Americans continued to find the going rough in the prairie division of the Western Hockey League here last night as they lost 3-2 in overtime to Edmonton Flyers before 6,096 fans, largest crowd of the season at Edmonton.

Winger Chuck Holmes scored the winner for the Flyers at 5.29 of the overtime session after Edmonton had come from behind to tie the score in the third period. Holmes' shot, his 16th goal of the season, was a dribbler that just rolled over the line after a scramble around the net.

TOUGH TRIP

Victory for the Flyers pulled them to within six points of Winnipeg Warriors in the prairie division. The Americans, who have won one game in four on their prairie tour, are still in third place in the western division.

Gerry Melnyk gave Edmonton a 1-0 lead in the first period, but Gord Sinclair and Rudy Filion put Seattle ahead in the second.

Fielder, WHL scoring leader, drew an assist on Sinclair's goal, his only point of the night.

Defenceman Les Hunt of Seattle was off for tripping in the third period when Len Lunde, leading scorer on the prairies, forced the overtime with his 22nd goal of the season.

Hank Bassen turned in a fine job in the Seattle nets, blocking 44 shots. He was particularly outstanding in the first and third periods.

Seattle—Goal, Bassen; defence, Hunt, Repka, Sinclair, Davidson; forwards, Filion, MacPartland, Kinasewich, Pentelyne, Hart, Kukulowicz, Keema, Chiupka, Fielder.

Edmonton—Goal, Riskin; defence, Hendrickson, Coffin, MacPherson, Hoogeveen; forwards, Leswick, Lunde, Holmes, Melnyk, Gimnell, Leonard, Olson, McCarthy, Burton.

Referee, Vern Buffey; linesmen, Curly Brault, Dutch Van Deelen.

FIRST PERIOD

1. Edmonton, Melnyk (Lunde) 16:51.

Penalties—Hunt 8:31, 12:10, Coffin 19:38.

SECOND PERIOD

2. Seattle, Sinclair (Repka, Pleiner) 8:31.
3. Seattle, Filion (Chiupka) 10:37.

Penalties—Coffin 4:00, Kinasewich 9:18, Holmes 15:15.

THIRD PERIOD

4. Edmonton, Lunde (MacCarthy, MacPherson) 16:37.

Penalties—Coffin 7:08 (major), Sinclair 11:36.

OVERTIME

5. Edmonton, Holmes (Gimnell) 5:29.

Penalties—None.

Three City Rinks Reach Semi-Finals

DUNCAN — Three Victoria rinks reached the jewelry yesterday as play reached the semi-finals in two events at the annual Duncan Bonspiel.

In the semi-finals of the Riverside-Cushenaugh event, secondary to the Wright event, are Ron Webster's Navy rink and the Victoria Curling Club rinks entered by Dr. Kirby Moysey and Bob McIntosh.

However, all eight Victoria rinks have lost at least once. Gar Taylor, who got a fast start on Thursday with three successive wins, lost out, 8-7, to Duncan's Tony Folk in the quarter-finals of the Wright event.

Folk later defeated clubmate Roy Scheppart, 9-1, and is currently leading the Grand Aggregate race with a 50 record.

Also in the semi-finals of the Wright event are H. Gulka of Nanaimo and Len Koffski and Ollie Panzer of Duncan. All won twice yesterday to boast 4-0 records.

Gulka plays Panzer in one semi-final while it's Folk and Koffski in the other. The Riverside-Cushenaugh semi-finals pit Webster against Moysey and Ron Harper of Duncan against McIntosh.

Play was out of the 16s of the Wadsworth event, the second primary, after last night's last draw. First games in the Cowichan event were set early this morning. Today's play will be confined to the above two events and the consolation. Drawmaster Lowell Berkey hopes to have all five finals on at the same time tomorrow.

NHL to Punish 'Soft' Officials

MONTREAL (CP) — National Hockey League referees and linesmen who fail to enforce a new directive aimed at curbing squawking players, will find themsleves nicked $25 per failure.

NHL president Clarence Campbell issued the text of the directive, outgrowth of a stand taken by club owners at a meeting in New York last Monday.

Provisions of the directive are effective today. They set forth that a misconduct penalty will be called against any player, including captain or alternate captain, who disputes the officials' decisions.

A distinction is made between such squawks and discussions with the referee of any point relating to interpretation of the rules. These discussions are the privilege only of the captain or an alternate captain.

The directive says:

"Failure on the part of any official to carry out the letter and spirit of this directive will be subject to disciplinary action equivalent to a misconduct penalty, and the referee-in-chief and the president will be responsible for the enforcement of this provision."

A match penalty carries with it an automatic fine of $25.

JOE LOUIS
. . . in deep

Moonlighting Won't Help Joe

CHICAGO—Joe Louis, former world heavyweight boxing champion, was signed to a long-term contract yesterday by the United States Government, which is seeking to recover $1,250,000 in back income taxes.

Louis and the internal revenue service have agreed on payment of $20,000 annually on the huge debt which got out of hand between 1946 and 1954, when Louis earned most of the $4,000,000 he received for his fighting ability.

Arthur J. Wilson, Louis' accountant, emphasized that the government did not reduce the amount owing as part of the agreement.

"But," Wilson added, "we have some hope that if he (Louis) follows the plan we have agreed on that the government in a few years may call matters even."

That, of course, is Louis' only hope. Even if the U.S. government didn't charge any more interest, it will take 62½ years for Louis to liquidate his debt and he would have to keep working until he is 106 years old to become debt free.

As matters stand, his debt will only get bigger even with payment of $20,000 annually. Interest on $1,250,000 at the modest rate of five per cent comes to $62,500 a year. At that rate, instead of being even when he is 106, Louis will owe approximately $4,000,000.

On top of that, Louis is certain to have trouble getting by on his salary while making payments although it is estimated he is earning about $33,000 a year — $20,000 from the International Boxing Club, $4,800 for public relations work for the Joe Louis Milk Co., and $8,200 for unspecified services for a recording firm.

He will have $13,000 annually left after making his payments, hardly enough to pay the income tax on his yearly earnings. One can only hope he has some memories left.

Rugby Action At Same Park

Officials of the Victoria Rugby Union have made a slight change in today's schedule.

JBAA and Oak Bay Wanderers will play their first division match on the upper pitch at Macdonald Park at 2.15 as originally scheduled. However, the JBAA seconds will play their match against Victoria College on the lower pitch at the same time, instead of at Windsor Park, as was previously announced.

JBAA's first-division lineup follows:

Bowling Roundup . . . . . . By Jim Taylor

Plans Set for Big Pin Meet

Details have been released on the gigantic B.C. centennial fivepin tournament in Vancouver April 26 to May 10, and a look at the prize list shows a great deal of money waiting for the bowlers good enough to take it.

Held under the auspices of the Vancouver Fivepin Association, the tournament offers prize money of at least $10,000 and possibly more, depending on the number of entries received.

Guaranteed minimum prize money for the top team of the open classification is $650. "A" class team gets $600, "B" class $550, and "C" class, $500. Top doubles team will get $300 in the open event, $250 in the "A" class, $200 in the "B" group and $150 for "C" class winners.

High scoring singles bowlers will get at least $150 in the open class. Prize drops $50 in each of the lower classifications.

Highest single game in the tournament, biggest ever held in B.C., will be worth another $250 in the form of a diamond ring. For special awards and open play prizes there will be no handicap. Otherwise handicap has been set at 80 per cent.

Tournament fees per player are: open event, $3.50; "A" class, $3.00; "B" class, $2.50 and "C" class, $2.00. Entries, with cheques, must be submitted to Vancouver Fivepin Association, c/o Chapman's Recreations, 1312 West Broadway, Vancouver. No entries will be accepted after April 12.

Victoria branch of the Women's International Bowling Congress met Thursday night and voted to hold its annual city tenpin championships at Gibson's Bowladrome. Team events are scheduled Feb. 16, with singles and doubles set on the 23rd.

* * *

Norm Wylie set the pace for city fivepinners this week, rolling an 870 series at Capital City Bowling Alleys. At the same alleys, Sam Smitherman rolled 831 (313, 307), 709, and 712. Dick Hall also an 800 series, hitting for 814 (325). In addition he had series of 759, 753 and 723.

Other high scorers at Capital City were Doug Knight, 715; Cy Waters, 762 and 730 (351); Jim Douglas, 748; Ernie Moon, 716; Bob Hodges, 715; Art Granes, 729 (346); Larry Huck, [illegible]

Sena Guest won the Gibson's Bowladrome fivepin singles event in the weekend tournament with 841. Harold Quissey and Harry Smith took doubles honors with 1,737, followed by B. Sanderson and R. Greene with 1,646.

In league competition, C. McRae was high with 822, followed by Sheldon Nipp, 772; Lorne Roussy, 764 (388); Reg Waggoner, 757; May Wallis, 754; Doug Lowe, 747; Stan Bell, 735; H. Hunt, 739; Ken Smith, 740; R. Chamberlain, 726; Harry Metts, 722; T. Hawkins, 708, and Jack Goldie, 702.

* * *

Frank Morgan was high man at Esquimalt Bowladrome with 835 (315). Others to better 800 were Doug Lowe, 848; Keith Todd, 837 (308), and Doug Crawford, 801 (365). Bob McKinnon was next with 798 (314).

Remember When:

Billy Burch of New York Americans was showing the way to point-scorers in the National Hockey League 31 years ago today. At that point in the season Burch led with 13 goals and seven assists. Next in line were Dick Irvin and Babe Dye, both of Chicago, with 16 points each. Bill Cook of New York Rangers finished on top that season with 33 goals and four assists, and Irvin was only a point behind, with Burch in eighth place.

QUEER DUCK

SALTASH, England—A four-legged duckling was hatched on a farm in this Cornish community.

Glen Twills, 780; Reg Waggoner, 780; Ken Bendall, 777 (312); Dick Hall, 776; Garry Roskamp, 754; Don Gardler, 758; Tony Bishop, 750; Emile Liska, 751, and Ron Watt, 746, were the other top bowlers at the Esquimalt alleys.

Wilf Edwards rolled 824 with a single game of 305 in the Letter-Carriers' fivepin league at Strathcona Bowling Alley. Bert Fogden had 721 and Frank Fairless 706. Ted Pagden rolled 708 in the City Hall league.

* * *

In tenpin action at Strathcona, high bowlers in the senior league were Bud Marty, 588 (200); Ron Wilson, 551 (226); Steve Chamut, 550; Bill Okley, 546 (219, 201); Charlie Marks, 542, and Roy Begg, 541.

Grand Spot News took the senior league first-half title and will roll off with the second-half champions.

Gordie Rawnsley, 547, and Les Oberg, 543, were tops in the commercial league.

* * *

At Gibson's, Len Parsons rolled 576 (231, 203) to lead the senior league. Next in line were Wilbur Webb, 562 (201, 202); Len Murrant, 549 (211); Wilf Smith, 546, and Bob Bystedt, 540.

Webb came through with a 591 series to lead the commercial league, followed by Gil Wong, 569 (222); Bill Walker, 566; R. Okell, 562, and D. Shaw, 555.

Flora Kirker, 522 (197) and Dot Bennett, 514, topped the women's league and P. Graham was high in the mixed league with 551 (215).

* * *

Winner of the annual tenpin tournament at Strathcona was Andy Palmer, who rolled 864 for four games with a 15-pin handicap. Gordie Rawnsley was second with 780-36—825, and Steve Chamut third with 752-48—800.
